Ohio Solons Fight 'Elitism' In State University System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hearings began Wednesday on House bills designed to end "elitism" in state university admissions policies and to require school systems to have revenue before negotiating expenditures.

Earlier Wednesday the House passed a bill which replaces county auto sales taxes with use taxes. The Senate passed bills creating nature preserves and approving a land transfer between the state and private companies.

Mercury Drops 32 Degrees Overnight

Area extremes in weather recordings Wednesday were worthy of comment when the thermometer, after reaching a balmy high of 60 degrees under sunny skies, dropped 32 degrees for an overnight low of 28.

The overnight low will be the high reading on Thursday.

The unseasonal high temperature did not establish a record for the month of February but was the highest temperature recorded for the area since Nov. 18, 1969. On that date the mercury reached 62 degrees.

Record high reading in February, locally, was a warm 73 degrees, recorded in 1961 and in earlier years.

Wednesday's look at spring was brief. High temperature readings for the next two days will only reach the freezing mark under cloudy skies. Precipitation will be in the form of light snow or snow flurries with no measurable amount predicted to fall.

Thursday's overnight low is expected to drop to the upper teens, as "old man winter" remains, not only by the calendar, but weather-wise.

Nixon Message Reaction Mixed On Capitol Hill

Senate Leaders
Mostly Happy
With Attitude

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's first State of the World message drew praise from Senate leaders of both parties for its stress on negotiation and shared responsibility in foreign affairs.

"It's almost a 180-degree turn from the 'let's lick them before breakfast' attitude that we've had in the past," said Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, the Senate's senior GOP member.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was "pleased that the President emphasized negotiation, participation and shared responsibility" but added that the message seemed filled with generalities. He said specifics will have to be forthcoming.

The 40,000-word Nixon report sent to Congress Wednesday stirred no debate and drew sparse comment in a Senate preoccupied with the school desegregation problem.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he heads may hold hearings later in the year on issues raised by the foreign policy report.

Mansfield praised the President's restatement and world-wide application of the so-called Nixon Doctrine. The President described it this way:

"Its central thesis is that the United States will participate in the defense and development of allies and friends but that America cannot—and will not—conceive all the plans, design all the programs, execute all the decisions and undertake all the defense of the free nations of the world."

"We will help where it makes a real difference and is considered in our interest," Nixon said.

"He has done a good job, I think, in shifting away from the period of U.S. dominance," Mansfield said.

There was disagreement on Nixon's advocacy of an expanded Safeguard antiballistic missile system as the response to Soviet intercontinental missiles. Aiken said he had misgivings about the ABM plan; Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the Safeguard proposal "will face great opposition in the Senate."

Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., said Nixon "dealt in facts rather than false hopes or fantasies to explain why we must have the Safeguard antiballistic missile system and why we cannot permit the Soviet Union to become predominant in the Middle East."

His bill would require all state universities to accept students in the upper 40 per cent of their high school classes. If more apply than can be accepted, the bill requires that selection be on the basis of order of application or lottery.

Pease said private schools can and should be selective, but highly selective, state-financed universities are in total violation with the state education.

James Furman, executive officer of the State Board of Regents, said his group endorsed the bill aimed at Miami. He added that the bill will become more important in the future.

B52s Shift Efforts Back To War In South Vietnam

Firemen Walk Off; Department Manned By Chief With Volunteers

The Circleville Fire Department is being manned by Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe and volunteer help today following a walkout by firemen which began at 9:50 p.m. Wednesday.

Chief Wolfe said today he received a call at 9:50 p.m. from Lt. Mike Brown reporting members of his shift were "sick" and were leaving the firehouse.

When Wolfe arrived at the department less than 10 minutes later, no one was on duty.

The chief promptly issued a call for volunteer assistance, and there were men on duty to handle fire calls.

WOLFE said today he will continue to operate the department with volunteer firemen. He urged anyone wishing to help out during the present emergency to contact him at the department.

Response to his request for volunteers has been gratifying.

Members of the Circleville Fire Department have been seeking a wage increase. In a meeting Monday night they presented a wage package which they said would cost the city about $4,300.

They agreed to a starting wage for firemen of $6,132, the present base pay. The firemen asked annual increases to $6,300, $6,480, $6,660, $6,840 and $7,020. For Lieutenants the firemen asked for a starting salary of $7,140 with annual increases to $7,260, $7,380 and $7,500.

Mayor Richard A. Gerhardt released the following statement at 1:15 p.m. today:

"The fire chief, safety director and myself as well as council and the firefighters are all concerned that full fire protection is restored to Circleville as quickly as possible. "To this end we have been in contact with council and the firefighters and both have agreed to meet at 6 p.m. today for further discussion."

U.S. Believes Soviet Missile Strength Will Level Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — If U.S. administration predictions hold true, the rate of missile construction by the Soviet Union will have slowed substantially by the end of 1970.

This long-term trend shows up in an examination of Soviet ICBM deployments over the past three years and could become a significant factor in U.S. plans for antiballistic missile defenses in coming months.

In his State of the World message Wednesday, President Nixon said the Russians are expected to have 1,290 land-based missiles capable of reaching the United States by the end of this year.

According to figures on record at the Pentagon, this would be an increase of less than 200 missiles in 21 months.

Defense Melvin R. Laird had estimated the Soviet ICBM force as of March 1969 at "more than 1,000."

The 290 missile increase would be a rise of about 29 per cent.

This contrasts with an approximately 75 per cent increase in Soviet missiles over a somewhat similar time span from 1967 to 1969.

Some Pentagon strategists have suspected the Soviet Union might be satisfied to achieve parity with the United States in missiles. The United States now has 1,054.

Laird himself has testified the Soviet missile rate may taper off following the sharp buildup of the late 1960s, "but we can only conjecture as to the number they will start during the next two or three years."

President Nixon's message emphasized the Soviets now have more land-based missiles than the United States but he did not delve into construction rates.

The Soviet missile threat is held out by the administration as the primary reason for deploying the Safeguard antiballistic missile system, which is supposed to protect Air Force Minuteman launch silos.

Pentagon officials say they are more concerned with improvements in quality than with quantity changes so far as Soviet missiles are concerned.

Though the missile additions have been slower the last 21 months, the Soviets have been deploying more of the powerful SS9s, capable of carrying three five-megaton warheads.

If accurately guided, each SS9 could knock out three U.S. Minuteman launch sites in a surprise attack, the Pentagon says.

Work Planned For Route 22 Bridge Repair

Two bridges carrying Route 22 over channels of the Scioto River, west of Circleville, will be reconstructed, Director P. E. Masheter, Ohio Department of Highways said today.

A third structure in the area will be replaced by embankment and pavement.

Bids on the $870,000 project will be opened in Columbus Feb. 25.

The structures are located between the intersection of Ohio 56 and Route 22 and the west corporate limits of Circleville.

The project is scheduled for December completion.

Finch Wants 2-Child Family Limit To Help Environment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Nixon administration official says parents should limit their families to two children if they want to help start improving the quality of life in America.

Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, disclosed his two-child suggestion in a speech Wednesday night before an opening session of a conference on the environment.

The secretary, describing overpopulation as a paramount concern that must be dealt with if other environmental problems are to be solved, said "the best job we can do now" is make birth control information available to more women.

In a question and answer period, he was asked what people could do on a voluntary basis to improve the environment.

"I would begin with recommending that they start with two children," Finch said. "Beyond that, there are many other voluntary commitments others can do." He did not give specifics on the last point.

He also said the government might have to offer "disincentives" to discourage parents from starting big families but he did not spell out what he meant.

Philip Handler, president of the National Academy of Sciences, echoed Finch's remarks, saying "the greatest threat to the human race is man's own procreation."

Handler said the United States is expected to have 100 million more people by the year 2000. He said virtually all the nation's domestic ills stem from the rapidly growing population.

Finch touched on overpopulation at one other point in his talk.

"Unless the American people are really prepared to pay pollution 'taxes' and meet the costs of environmental restoration—costs that may range from less powerful autos to less frequently occupied basins—no political authority can control the excesses of affluence or rampant technology."

Finch called on industry and science to find other ways to cope with the problems of the environment.

Roundtown Players Transplant New Life Into Memorial Hall Auditorium

By JEANNE BACH

There is still life in the old girl yet! Her 1890 black silk bonnet was a bit dusty and her bustle a bit askew, but the lady, Memorial Hall, is getting a transfusion from the loving hands of the Roundtown Players. Some other exciting things are going to happen there, but more about that later — right now, the play's the thing.

"The Absence of a Cello," Roundtown Players' production scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon is extremely well done and has lots of good ingredients in all the right proportions. A touch of froth here, a bit of meat there and a good story with some clever lines adds up to an enjoyable experience.

Andrew Pilgrim, played by Dave Gillespie, is an intellectual who is known in practically every university around the world. He is bankrupt, owns a Rolls Royce, has mountainous bills and just $279. He decides to seek a job from Baldwin Nelson Corporation, a company requiring the soul in exchange for a paycheck.

Dave Gillespie cannot be topped in this performance. He has a very powerful presence and delivery which holds the audience all the way.

CAROLYN Young, as Mrs. Pilgrim is a bright, dignified author who writes thin books on ancient subjects. Mrs. Young is very talented and brings Celia Pilgrim to life with warmth and whimsical intelligence.

Emma Littlewood (Edith Grigg) and her grandson, Perry (Bill Chandler) come into the Pilgrim's lives to help put up a front for the representative of Baldwin Corporation.

Mrs. Grigg is delightful. Her portrayal of Mrs. Littlewood as a horse betting, happy, kooky, kleptomaniac in grandmothers clothing, is a rare jewel.

Bill Chandler is the college man, well versed in all of the right moves to make good impressions on corporate managers. His recipe comes straight from Vance Packard's "Status Seekers," and includes "the right look, the right church, the right party and outgoing people with outgoing interests." Mr. Chandler is very well cast and gives a fine performance.

Debbie Young as Joanna Pilgrim, a Radcliffe student, is perfect for the part and a very attractive asset to the Players.

Steve Stevenson as Otis Clifton, the corporation representative, really comes on strong. He professes to embody the Baldwin Nelson way of life but eventually reveals his feet of clay.

Supply Depots, Laotian Trail Prime Targets

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers went back to targets in South Vietnam today after 48 hours of heavy attacks in Laos. All 75 of the Strategic Air Command's big bombers in Southeast Asia had been diverted to the Laotian front.

Sources in Saigon said B52 strikes were continuing against North Vietnamese supply depots and the Ho Chi Minh trail through eastern Laos. But the sources said the attacks were not of the magnitude of those flown Tuesday and Wednesday.

The U.S. Command announced two B52 missions in South Vietnam between midnight and 6 a.m. today, a total of 10 planes dropping 300 tons of bombs on base camps and troop concentrations in the western Mekong Delta. The targets were five miles from the Cambodian border and 125 miles southwest of Saigon.

Informed sources said the big bombers for the time being were flying their usual number of missions, about seven every 24 hours in South Vietnam and about two every 24 hours in Laos. This means 35 planes dropping about 1,000 tons of bombs in South Vietnam, and 10 planes dropping about 300 tons across the border.

From time to time more missions are flown in Laos than in South Vietnam in efforts to slow North Vietnamese infiltration of troops and supplies before they are in position for an offensive. But the total diversion to that target area this week apparently was due to the North Vietnamese offensive launched last week against the Plain of Jars, a strategic communications hub in northeast Laos. U.S. fighter-bombers fly regularly in support of Laotian forces there, but sources in Saigon said the B52s were used Tuesday and Wednesday for the first time in the Plain of Jars area.

The U.S. Command never announces planes lost in Laos since it does not admit that U.S. planes are flying combat missions there. But it did announce the loss of three more helicopters in South Vietnam with 19 troops killed and three injured. One was shot down 20 miles north of Saigon, one farther northeast near the Cambodian border, and the other had mechanical trouble 78 miles southeast of Da Nang.

A total of 6,410 American helicopters and fixed-wing planes have been reported lost in the war.

Attack U.S. Role In Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank Church said today that American forces are operating in Laos without either a treaty or congressional authority.

"It is time the American people heard the truth—the whole truth—from their government," he said in a speech prepared for the Senate.

Church cited press reports of stepped up U.S. operations in Laos and said while "there is a statutory basis for our support of local forces in Laos and Thailand, nowhere do I find authority for American personnel to engage in combat operations."

"Indeed," he said, "not the least of the paradoxes of this curious war in Laos is that not only is there no legal basis for it; there is an affirmative legal prohibition against it."

Church was author of an amendment to the defense appropriations act, adopted in December, that bars use of American ground combat troops in Laos or Thailand.

"The Absence of a Cello," Roundtown Players' production scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings and Sunday afternoon is extremely well done and has lots of good ingredients in all the right proportions. A touch of froth here, a bit of meat there and a good story with some clever lines adds up to an enjoyable experience.

Andrew Pilgrim, played by Dave Gillespie, is an intellectual who is known in practically every university around the world. He is bankrupt, owns a Rolls Royce, has mountainous bills and just $279. He decides to seek a job from Baldwin Nelson Corporation, a company requiring the soul in exchange for a paycheck.

Dave Gillespie cannot be topped in this performance. He has a very powerful presence and delivery which holds the audience all the way.

CAROLYN Young, as Mrs. Pilgrim is a bright, dignified authoress who writes thin books on ancient subjects. Mrs. Young is very talented and brings Celia Pilgrim to life with warmth and whimsical intelligence.

Emma Littlewood (Edith Grigg) and her grandson, Perry (Bill Chandler) come into the Pilgrim's lives to help put up a front for the representative of Baldwin Corporation.

Mrs. Grigg is delightful. Her portrayal of Mrs. Littlewood as a horse betting, happy, kooky, kleptomaniac in grandmothers clothing, is a rare jewel.

Supply Depots, Laotian Trail Prime Targets

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers went back to targets in South Vietnam today after 48 hours of heavy attacks in Laos. All 75 of the Strategic Air Command's big bombers in Southeast Asia had been diverted to the Laotian front.

Sources in Saigon said B52 strikes were continuing against North Vietnamese supply depots and the Ho Chi Minh trail through eastern Laos. But the sources said the attacks were not of the magnitude of those flown Tuesday and Wednesday.

The U.S. Command announced two B52 missions in South Vietnam between midnight and 6 a.m. today, a total of 10 planes dropping 300 tons of bombs on base camps and troop concentrations in the western Mekong Delta. The targets were five miles from the Cambodian border and 125 miles southwest of Saigon.

Informed sources said the big bombers for the time being were flying their usual number of missions, about seven every 24 hours in South Vietnam and about two every 24 hours in Laos. This means 35 planes dropping about 1,000 tons of bombs in South Vietnam, and 10 planes dropping about 300 tons across the border.

From time to time more missions are flown in Laos than in South Vietnam in efforts to slow North Vietnamese infiltration of troops and supplies before they are in position for an offensive. But the total diversion to that target area this week apparently was due to the North Vietnamese offensive launched last week against the Plain of Jars, a strategic communications hub in northeast Laos. U.S. fighter-bombers fly regularly in support of Laotian forces there, but sources in Saigon said the B52s were used Tuesday and Wednesday for the first time in the Plain of Jars area.

The U.S. Command never announces planes lost in Laos since it does not admit that U.S. planes are flying combat missions there. But it did announce the loss of three more helicopters in South Vietnam with 19 troops killed and three injured. One was shot down 20 miles north of Saigon, one farther northeast near the Cambodian border, and the other had mechanical trouble 78 miles southeast of Da Nang.

A total of 6,410 American helicopters and fixed-wing planes have been reported lost in the war.

Attack U.S. Role In Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank Church said today that American forces are operating in Laos without either a treaty or congressional authority.

"It is time the American people heard the truth—the whole truth—from their government," he said in a speech prepared for the Senate.

Church cited press reports of stepped up U.S. operations in Laos and said while "there is a statutory basis for our support of local forces in Laos and Thailand, nowhere do I find authority for American personnel to engage in combat operations."

"Indeed," he said, "not the least of the paradoxes of this curious war in Laos is that not only is there no legal basis for it; there is an affirmative legal prohibition against it."

Church was author of an amendment to the defense appropriations act, adopted in December, that bars use of American ground combat troops in Laos or Thailand.

Young, Saxbe Agree

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, and Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, voted with the minority Wednesday as the Senate approved 56-36 the amendment of Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., to require enforcement of school desegregation equally throughout the nation.

Garbage Collection Back To Normal Soon

CINCINNATI (AP) — Normal garbage collection, set back by a five-week municipal employees strike, should resume March 2. City Public Works Director Arthur Bird had expressed hopes regular collection would be returned by the end of this week but said trash was piled higher than it had appeared. Collection crews picked up 12 million pounds of garbage last week compared with a normal six to seven million, Bird said.

next 10 years when "virtually every state university will be crushed with applications." He said if changes aren't made, the state universities will be just as elite in their admissions policies as private schools.

State Rep. Fred B. Hadley, R-1 Pioneer, told the committee that his bill banning school board's rights to negotiate with money it hadn't been voted is "vital." He said several schools in Ohio had negotiated salary hikes with teachers, then have gone to the voters asking for the money. He said the action has caused voter irritation and should be ended.

The House Wednesday passed 62-26 a bill to keep people from avoiding auto sales taxes by buying cars in non-taxing counties.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Robert Netzley, R - 7 Laura, would require that a use tax be levied in the county where the car will be used, not a sales tax in the county where it's sold.

The sales tax was repealed and replaced with a use tax after the three counties using it complained that it lost tax revenue when its residents left the county to buy cars. Only Cuyahoga, Miami and Lake counties use the one-half percent sales tax.

The Senate Wednesday passed two bills unanimously. One would establish nature preserves and the other approved a land trade with private companies.

The preserve bill, sponsored by Sen. Clara Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton, would allow the department of natural resources to purchase land of scenic and scientific interest.

The bill was amended on the floor to remove the department's right of eminent domain. The state would only be allowed to purchase land when the owner was willing to sell.

The Senate also passed a bill to trade about 15 acres of state land for about 6 acres of land owned by the Sun and Standard Oil Co.'s. The companies also must pay the state $72,000.

The land, located between Akron and Youngstown on Ohio 80, will be used for two highway maintenance garages.

Among bills introduced in the Senate Wednesday were ones that would:

—Exempt projection operators from arrest for showing obscene movies. The bill is designed to make the theater owner liable for arrest instead.

—Require public hearings on all appointments by the governor to the Air Pollution Control Board.

Among bills introduced in the House were ones that would:

—Allow the Highway Patrol to force cars off the highways if they do not meet pollution control standards. Another bill would allow the attorney general to prosecute polluters and levy fines up to $10,000.

—Abolish capital punishment.

—Increase school retirement fund benefits by 10 per cent.

—To withhold $75 million for vocational education buildings and equipment until the legislature approves standards for equal distribution of funds.

John Wayne Rogers, 18, of 327 Walnut St., was hospitalized Wednesday evening following a motorcycle-auto collision on N. Court St. at Prairie Lanes.

The 18-year-old Circleville High School senior was admitted to Berger Hospital with back and hip injuries stemming from the accident which occurred at 8:03 p.m. yesterday.

Ptl. Vic Ralston of the local Highway Patrol post was patrolling the area when the accident occurred. He reported that Rogers pulled from the north driveway of the bowling alley and turned left on the road. He was hit in the rear by an auto driven by Thomas R. Smith, 44, of 415 Sunnyview Drive, who was also headed south. Rogers was pinned beneath his motorcycle.

Smith's vehicle sustained $150 damage to the left front section. Damage to the motorcycle was set at $400.

The accident is still under investigation.

Local School Personnel Attend Meet

City and county superintendents and board members recently attended a conference of the American Association of School Administrators in Atlantic City, New York, Feb. 14-18.

The conference is an annual affair with an attendance of some 30,000 educational personnel. Problems and policies concerning U.S. educational programs all over the world are covered in a number of seminars during the four day meeting.

One of the main assemblies was headed by Werner von Braun, director of the space flight center, who discussed the future of education and space flight. Others concerned the nation's educational program outside the U.S., the Youngstown crisis, effective school boards, the Black administration and racial problems and a pacification program for taxpayers.

Local citizens who attended the conference were: Superintendent George McDowell; county board members, Wendell Evans, Nelson Jones and Nelson Stevens; Logan Elm superintendent John Henn and board member Roger Hobbie; city superintendent Fritz Jacobs.

From the Teays Valley School District, the entire school board attended with superintendent Benis Lutz. Members are Everett Beers, Dr. Jack Warner, Harold Peters, William Hinkle and William Winter.

Stock Rally Fades Away

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rally faded in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 2.84 to 759.64 after having been ahead 5.34 at 11 a.m.

The margin of advances over declines totaled more than 400 among issues traded on the New York Stock exchange.

The strong rally that got under way Wednesday carried over and prices moved up briskly in early trading.

Brokers said investors apparently were responding to statements which they interpreted as indicating a forthcoming relaxation of monetary controls.

Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans predicted that the Federal Reserve Board would lower interest rates "in a matter of months." Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy said "we may have to live with relatively high interest rates during the period just ahead," but added that "some beginnings of an easing trend are appearing."

Local Man Violates Probation

A local man was arrested by city police Wednesday evening for violation of probation he was sentenced to earlier in the day by Judge Sterling Lamb.

Fred Brungs, Circleville, appeared in municipal court two days in a row for intoxication charges. Wednesday he was fined $20. The fine was suspended and Brungs was given 90 days probation. He was on the docket on the same charge Thursday and received a $100 fine.

Trespassing charges were filed against Marjorie Krahn, Circleville Motel, by the clerk of the American Hotel. The police were called when she refused to leave the hotel after she was asked. Her $10 fine was suspended.

A Columbus man, Charles Messey, an employee of an appliance moving company, forfeited $59 bond for driving a commercial vehicle on public highways that had not been listed in the Ohio highways contract permit.

Townsend D. Van Camp II, 30, of 585 Ridgewood Drive, paid a $15 fine for a stop sign violation.

Speeding brought Ronald Eugene Bush, 26, Williamsport, a $10 fine following his arrest by the Highway Patrol.

Harold G. Short, 52, Ashville, entered a plea of not guilty to charges of reckless operation. He was fined $50.

A Kentucky man, James A. Deboard, 20, was fined $10 for driving an unsafe vehicle and $50 for fictitious registration.

Other fines and forfeitures totaled $183.

Michigan Mob Protests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An unruly crowd of 1,800 persons clashed with city police in Ann Arbor, Mich., following a University of Michigan rally called by Students for a Democratic Society to protest the Chicago riot trial verdicts.

Five persons were arrested Wednesday night, 13 suffered minor injuries and windows were smashed at four stores, two banks and a police car.

The Ann Arbor street battle followed another incident in which nine University of Michigan students and four other persons were arrested trying to block General Electric Co. recruiters. SDS then called a night rally to protest both GE recruiting and the Chicago verdict.

After the rally police charged into marchers, who were headed for City Hall, after someone lobbed a bottle over their heads and through a patrol car window.

Rallies to protest the verdict were planned for today in Boston, Salt Lake City and Eugene Ore.

State Golf Course Fees Hiked By Division Of Parks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An increase in green fees at the state's golf courses which are under supervision of the Division of Parks and Recreation was approved Wednesday following a public hearing.

The Department of Natural Resources, which with the division conducted the hearing, reported that approval also was given to a proposal opening eight lakes to skin and scuba diving.

All the rule changes will go into effect in 10 days.

Approval of the actions came when no opposition was offered to any of the rule changes at the public hearing.

However, several golf course owners in Northern Ohio suggested fees were not being raised high enough. Ernie Mizda of Auburn Springs Country Club near Punderson and Heuston Woods where a new 18-hole state golf course opened last year, said he lost $5,000 because of competition from the state course and had to invest $12,000 to remain competitive.

The new greens fee schedule which is an average increase of $1 per person, will man an increase of about $39,000 at Punderson.

The lakes opened to skin and scuba diving were Lakes Hope, Punderson, Burr Oak, Blue Rock, Kiser, Acton, Caldwell and Stewart lakes at Scioto Trail and Dillon Reservoir.

The rules prohibit skin and scuba diving within a beach or bathing area and require full safety equipment.

They also prohibit diving without a partner. The changes mark the first time that the state's approximately 2,000 divers have been permitted recreational diving in lakes operated by the division.

Ice Fishing Nearly Over

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's ice fishing season appears to be about over in most areas of the state with the outlook poor for the weekend.

In the Lake Erie report, the Ohio Division of Wildlife said ice is 6-20 inches thick with fishing at Sandusky Bay, Put-n-Bay, Mouse Island and Catawba State Park considered only fair. The weekend outlook also is listed as only fair.

In Central Ohio, before the warming trend of Wednesday, the Indian Lake ice was reported in good condition at 10-14 inches with a few crappies being taken in the old portion of the lake. Hoover Reservoir ice is reported poor.

In Northwest Ohio, Lima Ferguson and Metzger Reservoirs are still providing good fishing with 10-14 inches of ice and recommended fishing is in 27-32 feet of water with jigs, minnows or minnows to catch walleyes and perch.

Ice conditions are hazardous on most areas of Northeast Ohio and caution should be used, the division said. Ice is unsafe throughout all areas of Southeast Ohio, and in the southwest little fishing activity was reported, with ice hazardous in most areas.

CCA Forester Named To Committee

Franklin P. Newell, management forester for Container Corporation of America at Circleville, was one of seven professional foresters recently named to the Ohio Tree Farm Committee. The 1970 committee represents both industry and government throughout the state.

The Ohio Tree Farm Program of the Ohio Forestry Association is to provide for the fullest development of the state's privately-owned, tax-paying forest land through the American Tree Farm System.

"It gives public recognition to those woodland owners who have demonstrated an outstanding ability to grow and harvest repeated tree crops, thereby encouraging others to do likewise," said Thomas M. Higgins, executive director of the Ohio Forestry Association.

To be eligible landowners must protect their trees from fire, insects, disease and destructive grazing; harvest their timber in such a manner as to assure continued crops; and plant seedlings on idle acres.

All properties are inspected by volunteer foresters who report their findings to the state committee. If approved, the certified tree farmer receives a certificate of membership and a green and white Tree Farm sign, the universal symbol of forest management.

The American Tree Farm System is sponsored nationally by American Forest Institute. It is active in 48 states and currently includes 33,688 Tree Farms, consisting of 74,638,247 acres of managed forest land.

Ohio became the 13th state to adopt the program in 1946. It presently lists 718 Tree Farms, embracing 168,063 acres.

Tree Farm inquiries should be directed to the Ohio Forestry Association, Inc., The Neil House, Ballroom Floor, Columbus, Ohio 43215.

State Rep. Fred B. Hadley, R-1 Pioneer, told the committee that his bill banning school board's rights to negotiate with money it hadn't been voted is "vital." He said several schools in Ohio had negotiated salary hikes with teachers, then have gone to the voters asking for the money. He said the action has caused voter irritation and should be ended.

The House Wednesday passed 62-26 a bill to keep people from avoiding auto sales taxes by buying cars in non-taxing counties.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Robert Netzel, R - 7 Laura, would require that a use tax be levied in the county where the car will be used, not a sales tax in the county where it's sold.

The sales tax was repealed and replaced with a use tax after the three counties using it complained that it lost tax revenue when its residents left the county to buy cars. Only Cuyahoga, Miami and Lake counties use the one-half per cent sales tax.

The Senate Wednesday passed two bills unanimously. One would establish nature preserves and the other approved a land trade with private companies.

The preserve bill, sponsored by Sen. Clara Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton, would allow the department of natural resources to purchase land of scenic and scientific interest.

The bill was amended on the floor to remove the department's right of eminent domain. The state would only be allowed to purchase land when the owner was willing to sell.

The Senate also passed a bill to trade about 15 acres of state land for about 6 acres of land owned by the Sun and Standard Oil Co.'s. The companies also must pay the state $72,000.

The land, located between Akron and Youngstown on Ohio 80, will be used for two highway maintenance garages.

Among bills introduced in the Senate Wednesday were ones that would:

—Exempt projection operators from arrest for showing obscene movies. The bill is designed to make the theater owner liable for arrest instead.

—Require public hearings on all appointments by the governor to the Air Pollution Control Board.

Among bills introduced in the House were ones that would:

—Allow the Highway Patrol to force cars off the highways if they do not meet pollution control standards. Another bill would allow the attorney general to prosecute polluters and levy fines up to $10,000.

—Abolish capital punishment.

—Increase school retirement fund benefits by 10 per cent.

—To withhold $75 million for vocational education buildings and equipment until the legislature approves standards for equal distribution of funds.

Michigan Mob Protests

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An unruly crowd of 1,800 persons clashed with city police in Ann Arbor, Mich., following a University of Michigan rally called by Students for a Democratic Society to protest the Chicago riot trial verdicts.

Five persons were arrested Wednesday night, 13 suffered minor injuries and windows were smashed at four stores, two banks and a police car.

The Ann Arbor street battle followed another incident in which nine University of Michigan students and four other persons were arrested trying to block General Electric Co. recruiters. SDS then called a night rally to protest both GE recruiting and the Chicago verdict.

After the rally police charged into marchers, who were headed for City Hall, after someone lobbed a bottle over their heads and through a patrol car window.

Rallies to protest the verdict were planned for today in Boston, Salt Lake City and Eugene Ore.

Waikiki's Beaches Are Foul By Oil
HONOLULU (AP) — Authorities say they haven't found the source of globs of sticky oil or tar that soiled Waikiki's beaches this week.

The U.S. Coast Guard sent samples Wednesday to a federal Water Pollution Control Administration laboratory for analysis.

State Golf Course Fees Hiked By Division Of Parks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An increase in green fees at the state's golf courses which are under supervision of the Division of Parks and Recreation was approved Wednesday following a public hearing.

The Department of Natural Resources, which with the division conducted the hearing, reported that approval also was given to a proposal opening eight lakes to skin and scuba diving.

All the rule changes will go into effect in 10 days.

Approval of the actions came when no opposition was offered to any of the rule changes at the public hearing.

However, several golf course owners in Northern Ohio suggested fees were not being raised high enough. Ernie Mizda of Auburn Springs Country Club near Punderson and Heuston Woods where a new 18-hole state golf course opened last year, said he lost $5,000 because of competition from the state course and had to invest $12,000 to remain competitive.

The new greens fee schedule which is an average increase of $1 per person, will mean an increase of about $39,000 at Punderson.

The rules prohibit skin and scuba diving within a beach or bathing area and require full safety equipment.

They also prohibit diving without a partner. The changes mark the first time that the state's approximately 2,000 divers have been permitted recreational diving in lakes operated by the division.

Ice Fishing Nearly Over
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's ice fishing season appears to be about over in most areas of the state with the outlook poor for the weekend.

In the Lake Erie report, the Ohio Division of Wildlife said ice is 6-20 inches thick with fishing at Sandusky Bay, Put-in-Bay, Mouse Island and Catawba State Park considered only fair. The weekend outlook also is listed as only fair.

In Central Ohio, before the warming trend of Wednesday, the Indian Lake Ice was reported in good condition at 10-14 inches with a few crappies being taken in the old portion of the lake. Hoover Reservoir ice is reported poor.

In Northwest Ohio, Lima Ferguson and Metzger Reservoirs are still providing good fishing with 10-14 inches of ice and recommended fishing is in 27-32 feet of water with jigs, mouseies or minnows to catch walleyes and perch.

Ice conditions are hazardous on most areas of Northeast Ohio and caution should be used, the division said. Ice is unsafe throughout all areas of Southeast Ohio, and in the southwest little fishing activity was reported, with ice hazardous in most areas.

Southern Senators Flushed With Victory On School Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern senators, flushed with a major victory in their fight to slow down Dixie school desegregation, sought today to strike the power of federal courts to order busing to achieve integration.

Pending as the Senate resumes its two-week-old debate on the multimillion dollar education bill was an amendment of Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., stating simply that no court or federal agency would have the power to order such busing.

This proposal appeared to have less support than the amendment which gave the South its first big civil rights victory in years Wednesday with the 56-36 adoption of a provision by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., to provide a uniform national policy on school desegregation.

The rider requires the government to attack neighborhood school desegregation in the North as vigorously as it has moved against legal segregation in Southern school systems.

However, some Dixie senators conceded the victory might be more psychological than real.

They expressed far greater interest in the more direct relief the Ervin proposal would provide.

Stennis commented he would "not expect any great immediate things to happen in the North as the result of this amendment." But he and other Southerners made it quite clear they hoped it would exert enough pressure on the North to slow down the school integration drive all over the nation.

Civil rights supporters who fought the amendment declared its real purpose was to allow Southern officials to blunt the push to end their region's dual school systems.

These senators said the Dixie officials would contend that desegregation orders could not be enforced against them until comparable progress was made against de facto—neighborhood—segregation in the North.

The Stennis amendment was adopted with votes of 29 Democrats and 27 Republicans. It was opposed by 24 Democrats and 12 Republicans.

However, it narrowly escaped being side-tracked in an earlier test. In that vote, Republican leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania lost only 48 to 46 on his substitute which would have wiped out the Stennis proposal.

The substitute also called for a uniform national policy on desegregation but was considerably less broad than the Mississippi senator's rider.

State Solon Attacks Ohio U Newspaper As Pornographic

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Charges made by Sen. Robert J. Corts Wednesday that the Ohio University newspaper has been publishing "pure unadulterated smut" brought a quick response from the paper's editor.

"Sen. Corts knows as much about journalism as Mickey Mouse does about government."

said Andrew Alexander, editor of The Post.

Corts, an Elyria Republican, threatened to spearhead a drive to cut funds to the student paper if university officials do not act to stop publication of "pornographic matter."

Alexander said he found Corts' statement "almost humorous. The Post doesn't get any state funds. All our money comes from student fees."

Corts produced at a news conference several copies of the newspaper that carried articles he said used language "you do not hear in Army barracks or latrines."

He said the articles were brought to his attention by a parent of an Ohio University student.

One of the articles dealt with a university sex symposium held recently. Corts said he approved of the symposium but felt it should not have been covered by the paper.

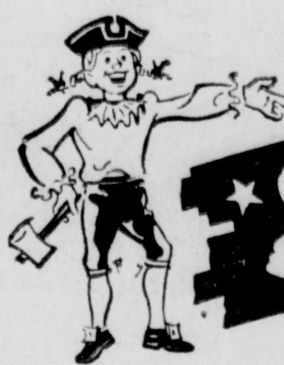

Dr. John R. Wilhelm, dean of OU's School of Journalism, said the newspaper is an independent student-run publication "and at times they do things differently than some professional journalists would."

He admitted that the symposium was "reported in somewhat more detail than I think was in good taste."

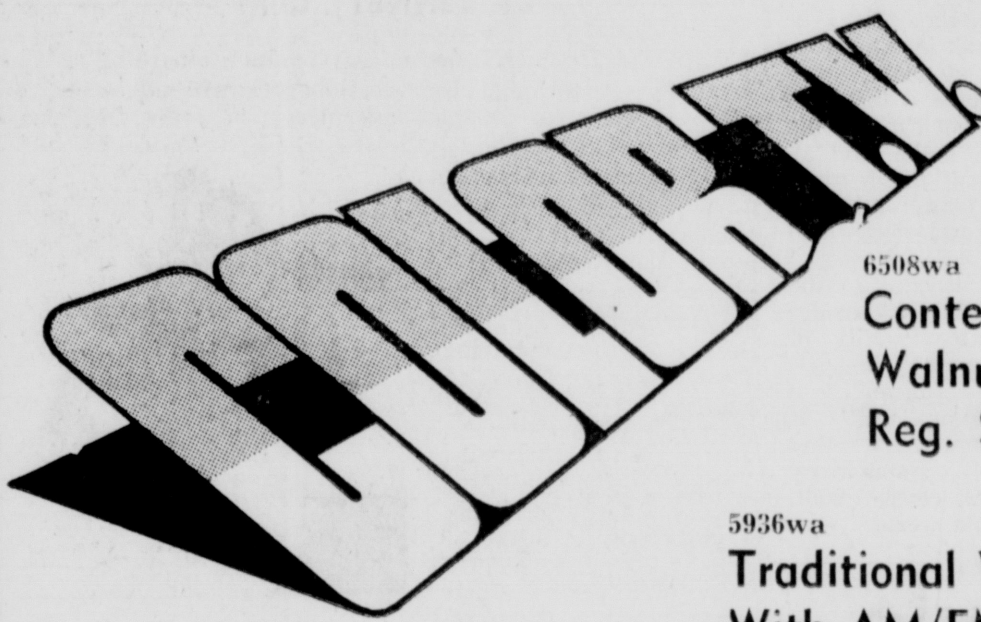

Dr. Ralph S. Izard, journalism professor and faculty advisor to the paper, said, "I certainly would not agree that The Post has been dealing in smut. I think the staffers in general try to do as good a journalistic job as they can and for the most part are very good journalists."

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — As some people have been led to believe, the United States of America is about to be taken over by an army of youth, 100-million strong and intolerant of old concepts and beliefs.

Responding to this popular notion, thousands of businesses today are preparing themselves for the new era, overhauling their marketing strategies for the day, sometime in the 1970s, when half the population will be under 25.

Already the evidence of preparation can be seen in various areas of life. Parents solicit advice from their youngsters.

Educators, clergy, government officials, politicians all seek the wisdom of youth. And the over-35 individual with an ear for the thoughts of youth feels he is in an enviable, privileged position.

Few, however, have studied the youthful scene in the same manner as the marketing man — the specialist whose job it is to find out what the populace will buy and then devising ways to see that it does buy.

"Too many marketing and advertising men are selling a youthful market," says one marketing man. "As a result, their 'new generation' approaches are not reaching the focal point of spending power."

That's the opinion of Solomon Dutka, president of Audits & Surveys. He finds that some companies seemingly have the figure 25 fixed in their minds, when in reality buying power will remain with 35 to 45-year-olds.

"You just cannot rely on sheer numbers," says Dutka, "because a goodly segment of the under-25 population is comprised of infants and school age children." Their buying decisions are for dolls, records and breakfast foods.

In terms of spending power, he maintains, "the figures show that the 18- to 24-year-old segment will account for only 30 per cent of all spending by 1975."

Research into the mind of youth continues, however, in a volume that might compare pound for pound with the U.S. Census, but there appears to be even more doubt regarding the value of the contents.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States surveyed 5,000 college students and learned a great deal about their motivations, opinions, plans and frustrations, but it may be difficult to rely on at least two of the answers.

"If you had the power to change one thing in American society," the students were asked, "what would it be?"

The chamber found more than one-third of the males and almost two-thirds of the females had no specific answer. "In other words, the majority would change nothing."

However, in response to the question, "What do you consider the most valuable quality of your own generation?" the majority answered, "The ability to challenge old assumptions."

No wonder some marketing men are puzzled. . . and many parents, teachers, clergy. Well, in fact, the whole world.

Try and Stop Me

IT'S ABOUT eleven times as easy to start something as it is to stop something, observes Robert Townsend in his invaluable book for business executives, "Up the Organization." For an example, Mr. Townsend cites the case of the British, who created a civil-service job in 1803 calling for a man to stand on the Cliffs of Dover with a spyglass. He was instructed to ring a bell if he saw Napoleon coming. The job was abolished in 1945.

When Dore Schary made "Lust for Life," for MGM, he invited the late William Goetz to a preview. Goetz being probably the foremost authority on Van Gogh and his paintings in the country. After the screening, Schary anxiously inquired, "Do you think it's commercial?" "Of course it's commercial," Goetz assured him gravely. "Everyone who owns a Van Gogh will simply have to see it."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My father, at the age of 74, recently had a stroke which left him unable to speak. His brother, my uncle, at almost the same age had a stroke and I remember distinctly that his speech was not affected. Are there different kinds of strokes? Is there a family tendency to have them?

Mrs. J. M., Delaware
Dear Mrs. M.: A stroke, or apoplexy, is the common name for a sudden interference with the normal blood supply to the brain. The blockage of a major artery which carries life-giving oxygen to the brain can be the result of a clot or thrombus, or narrowing of the blood vessel due to arteriosclerosis.

Interference with the blood supply can be the result of a break of the blood vessel with a hemorrhage that follows it. Occasionally, a spasm of one of the major blood vessels can temporarily interfere with the blood supply. When the spasm relaxes, the blood flow returns to normal. These are the major causes of strokes that are known technically as cerebrovascular accidents.

The severity of a stroke depends entirely on the size of the blood vessel that is affected. Obviously, interference with the blood supply to a large artery will affect a larger portion of the brain and be accompanied by more and more diffuse symptoms. When a small blood vessel is affected, the symptoms and signs may be less marked and less severe.

The reason why the speech is affected on one person and not another is rather interesting. In a right-handed person, there is a small part of the brain known as Broca's area which is responsible for the understanding of the spoken word and is located on the left side of the brain. In a left-handed person, this vital spot is usually on the right side of the brain. It is obvious, therefore, that speech and the understanding of the spoken word depends entirely on whether or not the blood supply to that area has been interrupted.

Similarly, there are complex explanations for the reasons why some people with strokes may have mild or severe paralysis of the arms or legs.

I would like to call the attention of my readers to a condition known as "small strokes" which frequently go by unnoticed and unrecognized unless they are brought to the attention of the doctor early.

It is for this reason that persons who develop any unusual symptoms that cannot readily be explained should bring them to the attention of their doctor. This is especially true in the elderly who are known to have some vascular or circulatory condition. "Small strokes," when recognized and treated intensively, may prevent a more severe attack.

We have passed through a phase of medicine that has in the past 20 years brought great hope for the victims of even severe strokes. With proper training and rehabilitation, thousands of stroke victims are now made productive human beings who can live in comparative good health and dignity. They can be released from the bondage of chronic invalidism. There is no need for you to believe there is a family tendency toward strokes. You will gain assurance by talking about this anxiety to your own doctor.

Respect for good health and the needs of the body is the essence of preventive medicine.

Do Panthers Guess Wrong

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

In his revealing story of his days with the Black Panthers, "Picking Up the Gun," Earl Anthony puts such things as the attempt on the part of Panther sympathizers to disrupt court proceedings in a real revolutionary perspective. The various efforts of the New Left, whether black or white, to discredit the "conspiracy" trials in Chicago and New York are to be understood as the U.S. radical equivalent of Fidel Castro's abortive attack on Fort Moncado in Cuba, which first made Fidel a household word. The Castroite theory is that a movement must prove its revolutionary commitment by attempting impossible things that can only end in immediate disaster. Thus martyrs are created and symbols provided for the future.

To be certain of success, however, the would-be revolutionary who forms paramilitary organizations to carry on disruptive political warfare outside the Established political system must have the gift of prophecy. He must have a correct intuitive feeling that his minority demands for today will be the demands of the majority tomorrow. When the Black Panthers in the San Francisco Bay region began to carry 45 calibre pistols and shotguns in public and engaged in shoot-outs with the "pigs" (just who "set up" whom for the violence may be arguable), more than one person who had lived through the Twenties and Thirties made a mental note that this was something right out of the history of pre-Hitler Germany. But the Nazi street fighters and beer hall putschists were in tune with the future: they could count on the ultimate acquiescence of a majority when economic depression made the restrictive terms of the Versailles Treaty seem too onerous for the whole German nation to bear.

The pragmatic question that Eldridge Cleaver and Bobby Seale are asking of themselves is whether they are yet within a hundred light years of a real revolutionary situation in America. The Panthers themselves are a minority within a minority. Earl Anthony, who was himself purged from the Panthers, tells of the difficulties which the Panthers had in trying to cooperate with the "Establishment Left," and he complains that America "leaves so many openings for whites to move back into respectability." Coming from Los Angeles, he speaks of "westside college-trained blacks" who do not "dig" the Panther revolution and even detects, quite against his will, an "aspiring bourgeoisie" among the "eastside black masses." Whatever may be happening in the distant future, the prospects for a majority revolutionary movement in the U.S. seem rather dim at the moment.

Instead of picking up strength for themselves by their premature efforts to stage the equivalent of Fidel Castro's attack on Fort Moncado, the Panthers, the SDS Weathermen, and the other anti-establishment extremists only succeed in solidifying the opposition. We are not, as a nation, suffering from a Batista, as happened in Cuba, or from a Versailles diktat, as was the case in Germany. If the majority in the U.S. have any feeling of menace, it is an uneasy suspicion that the menace comes from the Left.

I can understand the Negro novelist James Baldwin when he says that "to be black in America is to be in a constant state of rage." But rage is not conducive to sound analysis. A former Canadian Supreme Court Justice, J. V. Clynne, now an industrialist, is closer to a fair evaluation of tomorrow when he tells a Los Angeles audience that "inevitably the agent for . . . change will be the Establishment." "I am speaking," he says, "of an Establishment attuned to all the ideas of a rapidly changing age, ready to seize on the best the current ferment produces and to implement it."

Mr. Clynne remarks that the Establishment is "subjected to more gratuitous insults than any other group I know." But the point is that in the U.S., as presumably in Mr. Clynne's own Canada, the Establishment is not a monolith. It changes, taking in new talent (Spiro Agnew is not Hubert Humphrey). What Black Panthers such as Eldridge Cleaver and white Weathermen such as Mark Rudd do not see is the tremendous absorptive capacity of the despised bourgeois system. Only if the U.S. were to lose a big war would change come in the manner that the likes of Cleaver and Rudd predict.

Academy Awards

By GENE HANDSAKER
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Glancing over the Academy Award nominations, you'd scarcely realize that there was a movie revolution going on.

The film business has been in a turmoil during the past year. Movie empires have crumbled as the youthful audience—75 per cent under 24 years old—indicated it was no longer interested in the standard formulas and veteran stars. Youth appeal was the thing.

Not with the Academy voters. They gave the most nominations to "Anne of the Thousand Days," a well-done but hardly contemporary account of the marital problems of Henry VIII. Among the five best picture nominees was "Hello, Dolly!," an entertaining extravaganza but scarcely an advance in the film art.

"Midnight Cowboy" tied for third in the number of nominations. Another film that has been embraced by the young generation, "Easy Rider," could manage only two mentions—for script and the supporting performance of Jack Nicholson.

The generation gap between Academy voters and film audiences is most apparent in the technical categories. Nominations for photography and editing went to such standard films as "Hello, Dolly!" "The Secret of Santa Vittoria" and "Marooned" rather than the more adventurous films such as "Alice's Restaurant," "Last Summer" and "Easy Rider."

Last year Academy President Gregory Peck indicated that studies would be made to seek ways to bring down the average age of the Academy electorate. Obviously it hasn't been done yet.

The nominations indicated a swing back to American actors. Thirteen of the 20 nominees are native-born. In recent years Britons dominated the acting awards. . . . There will be no repeat winners among the performers when the Oscars are handed out at the Los Angeles Music Center on April 7. None of the major nominees has won before.

Pension Plans Called Lotteries

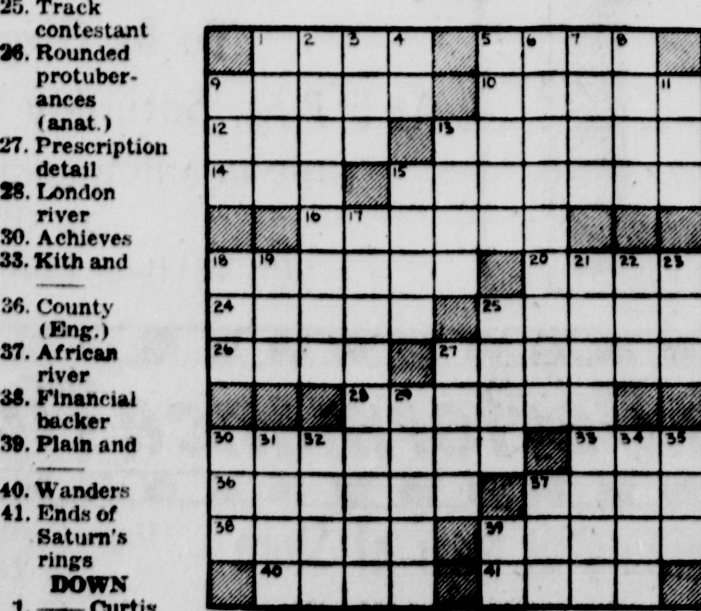

WASHINGTON (AP) — Private pension plans in the United States are lotteries, an Ohio University professor said Tuesday, because the losses of many provide the pay-off to a lucky few.

Testifying before a special Senate committee starting hearings on private pensions, Bernstein called for basic reforms to transform the private pension system into a sound method of retirement savings.

Mrs. Georgia Sweet — 869-2462

Sunday night supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wardell and children were Mr. and Mrs. William Doye of Grove City, and Mrs. Virgie Higgins. Mr. and Mrs. Doye are planning to visit their daughter Joanne, (Mrs. John Young) and family in Washington State soon and we wish them a nice trip.

Also victims of flu are Gary Wardell and son Mike. His wife Shirley had the misfortune Saturday to spill a cleaning powder in her eye which necessitated a rush trip to the hospital emergency room and a trip to her doctor. It is not so painful now she tells me, but causing a lot of discomfort and worry until she is sure no really serious damage has been done.

Sorry to report that Dayton McCann is a patient in Mt. Carmel Hospital at this time.

Would like to extend sympathy to the George Corder family on the death of his brother, Leslie Corder and to his mother.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Reverend Lillian Wright on the death of her brother recently.

Sympathy is also extended to Wayne Wilson and his family. Wayne's mother passed away two weeks ago.

Recent victims of the flu bug but feeling much better now are Reverend Lillian Wright, Mrs. Pat Looney, Jean Tossard and Archie Sweet.

Shawn McPherson was a hospital patient a few weeks ago but he is now home and doing nicely.

Birthdays to date include Earl Liff, Rickey Shea, Rodney Eakin, Harriet Bigam, Mrs. Coca Puckett, Donna Musselman, Louis Ridgway, Buddy Looney, Lura Christensen, Johnny Rowland, Dennis and Denise Swartz, Martha Vincent, Dale Vernon Elliott Jr.

Anniversary greetings to Mr. and Mrs. C. Jay Ward, 1 year — Feb. 14.

NEW YORK (AP) — Early in 1970, the growing public cry for cleaner air, water and general environment is finding a most potent potential ally—politics.

The rising political concern could help remedy two crippling weaknesses in past antipollution efforts—a lack of money and lack of legal authority and governmental determination to enforce corrective actions.

To politicians—from city halls to Washington—the answering of public complaints about pollution could bring the reward of votes.

Governmental battle lines in the pollution war began to be more clearly drawn in a period that witnessed these other gains and losses in matters of Americans' environment:

—Plans were dropped for a jetport for Miami in the Florida Everglades, after conservationists argued it would threaten the Everglades National Park.

—Bee keepers reported disastrous lethal effects upon bee colonies from use of some pesticides which farmers or others began using in place of longer-lasting DDT. The DDT was blamed for taking a toll of birds, fish and other life, while bees seemed to tolerate it better.

—Research chemists at the Bureau of Mines Coal Research Center in Pittsburgh produced, in laboratory experiments, a type of crude petroleum from ground-up garbage and paper. A next question is whether the technique would work practically to help dispose of solid wastes.

—Governmental agencies brought suit against a score of industrial firms on charges of polluting or interfering with navigation on New York City waterways.

—In Cincinnati, a strike by city employees piled garbage up on the streets and led to spilling of millions of gallons of raw sewage daily into the Ohio River. One hundred miles downstream, Louisville, Ky., uses river water for domestic purposes. Kentucky officials protested.

—General Motors announced it would modify future car engines to run on lower octane, lead-free gasoline, and Ford and Chrysler were expected to follow suit. The action means the petroleum industry must develop powerful but less polluting gasoline.

—President Nixon appointed the three members of his new Council on Environmental Quality—Russell E. Train, undersecretary of the interior, Robert Cahn of the Christian Science Monitor, and Gordon J. F. MacDonald, vice chancellor of research and graduate affairs of the University of California at Santa Barbara. Conservationists generally liked the appointments, questioned only whether their work as advisers and watchdogs over influences upon the environment would be funded sufficiently in times of tight budgeting.

The President in his State of the Union message gave high priority to cleaning up the environment, and in his budget message suggested specific sums for antipollution programs.

He enriched some of these proposals last week. For example, he authorized $4 billion immediately for fiscal 1971 to cover the full federal share of a $10-billion program to clean up waste waters, with $1 billion to be spent each year for the next four years. Congress earlier had voted $800 million for this purpose for next fiscal year, while the administration had originally asked for only $214 million.

In other steps, Nixon proposed a means of helping states raise money through bonds for water clean-up, establishment of state federal water quality standards to impose precise effluent requirements on all industrial and municipal sources; authority to impose fines up to $10,000 daily for failure to meet water and air quality standards; and research under the Solid Waste Disposal Act to emphasize techniques for recycling materials.

Before the President submitted his environmental message, Democrats had taken the view his programs involved more rhetoric than action and money muscle, and some, like Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, could point to their own long-standing efforts to halt environmental pollution.

Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel said the party with the best record on environment "is going to be the party that wins the most election."

Muskie plans to introduce legislation to provide $12.5 billion over a five-year period for waste treatment grants, with states and cities matching for a total of $25 billion. He will also seek $325 million a year for three years beginning in fiscal 1971 for clean air programs.

The State of Illinois needs over $1.5 billion to clean up its water, says C. Wallace Poston, director of the Great Lakes Regional Office of the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration. Rescuing Lake Michigan from pollution would cost upwards of $1 billion, he adds. Other members of the same agency think the bill could be $2 billion to $10 billion.

On matters of air pollution:

In Washington, the General Services Administration announced that more than 1,008 federal trucks and autos would be converted this year to burning natural gas in a system that cuts noxious exhaust emissions by about 80 per cent.

The National Air Pollution Control Administration and the nation's airlines agreed the airlines by the end of 1972 would have installed devices, called burner cans, that would eliminate up to 80 per cent of the carbon particles in the smoke left by jet planes exhausts.

But the devices, producing a higher temperature, would also bring an increase of about 40 per cent in the amount of nitrogen oxides in the exhausts. While this is invisible, it nonetheless is blamed as being one culprit in producing smog when sunlight breaks it down into ozone.

Rest Homes Are Exempted From Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Funds bequeathed rest homes by former patients are exempt the Ohio Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The high court affirmed a 9th District Court of Appeals ruling that rest homes are exempt as charitable institutions.

The ruling, appealed by the state tax commissioner, involved the Sumner Home for the Aged in Akron and the estate of Agnes Elwell.

The court upheld a lower court decision that Catherine Stefanick of Belpre could be prosecuted for interfering with a court bailiff who tried to take possession of her car.

She asked the Supreme Court to overrule the Washington County Court of Appeals because the court was incorrectly impounding her car.

The court said that although the lower court might have wrongfully impounded her car, she had no legal right to physically interfere.

An Ottawa County Court of Appeals ruling denying compensation to a minor whose father died in a plane crash was reversed by the Supreme Court.

The court said George Hazlett died in a wrongful death, but his daughter was incorrectly denied the damage money because of an error by the estate's executor.

Declaring no constitutional question was involved, the Supreme Court refused to hear an appeal by Billie I. Gaugler, an Akron widow, who claimed that her daughter was withholding Mrs. Gaugler's share of her late husband's estate.

Puppet Show Is Scheduled

Circleville Art League met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Wendell Turner, 1690 Winding Road, with 17 members and one guest, Mrs. Gary Hinton, president. Mrs. Peter McQuain, president, announced that George Husky had joined the league.

Members are to deliver one picture to Memorial Hall on Thursday, Feb. 19 from 2-4 p.m. and to pick it up on the following Monday. Rest Homes Are Exempted From Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Funds bequeathed rest homes by former patients are exempt from the Ohio Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

The high court affirmed a 9th District Court of Appeals ruling that rest homes are exempt as charitable institutions.

The ruling, appealed by the state tax commissioner, involved the Summer Home for the Aged in Akron and the estate of Agnes Elwell.

The court upheld a lower court decision that Catherine Stefanick of Belpre could be prosecuted for interfering with a court bailiff who tried to take possession of her car.

She asked the Supreme Court to overrule the Washington County Court of Appeals because the court was incorrectly impounding her car.

The court said that although the lower court might have wrongfully impounded her car, she had no legal right to physically interfere.

An Ottawa County Court of Appeals ruling denying compensation to a minor whose father died in a plane crash was reversed by the Supreme Court.

The court said George Hazlett died in a wrongful death, but his daughter was incorrectly denied the damage money because of an error by the estate's executor.

Declaring no constitutional question was involved, the Supreme Court refused to hear an appeal by Billie I. Gaugler, an Akron widow, who claimed that her daughter was withholding Mrs. Gaugler's share of her late husband's estate.

Puppet Show Is Scheduled

Arctic Cold Hits Nation's Midsection

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arctic cold swept across the nation's midsection today and dropped temperatures below zero from the northern Plains to the Great Lakes region.

Cold-wave warnings were in effect through the night in seven states from Nebraska and Kansas to Indiana.

Temperatures plunged as much as 40 degrees as the new surge of wintry weather rolled across the Midwest. The mercury fell 46 degrees in less than nine hours at St. Louis.

Snow preceded the cold wave, piling up to four inches before daybreak in portions of Michigan. Two-inch coatings ranged southwestward across northern Illinois.

The Weather bureau indicated the cold would spread into the Appalachians and the Northeast by Friday morning.

Unseasonably mild weather prevailed over the Deep South, and fairly mild conditions dominated the Far West.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 9 below zero at Redwood Falls, Minn., to 65 at Brownsville, Tex.

Man Convicted Of Growing Pot

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Frank Werber, former business manager of the Kingston Trio, has been convicted of possessing and growing marijuana.

The verdict was returned Tuesday by a Superior Court jury that deliberated 15 minutes.

Werber, 40, faces a maximum sentence of one to 10 years imprisonment.

His main defense was that he used the drug for religious purposes. Trial Judge E. Warren McGuire ruled there was no such religion as "marijuanaism" and instructed the jury to ignore the contention.

Children Suffer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky once was a pioneer in special education, but its service to the handicapped now is fragmented, a Legislative Research Commission staff report says. It cited conflicting philosophies among educators.

The Children's Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

Mrs. William D. Bills, 290 Edwards Road, leader of Girl Scout Troop 994, is bringing her scouts to the library for a series of workshops for a storytelling badge. Girls working toward this goal are: Anita Archer, Karen Smith, Dawn Butler, Rochelle Roy, Suzie Rogers, Lisa Leahy, Debra Bills, Cheryl Hawkins, Jane Cole and Sherrie Beale.

"The Pixy and the Lazy Housewife" story by Mary Calhoun, pictures by Janet McCaffery. This book is a real gem. It could easily become a standard in children's literature. Beguiling green pages show, in wiggly lines, the fat, lazy housewife trying to trick the pixies into keeping house for her. But no mortal is a match for the wily pixies, who teach the lazy housewife to do her own jobs. Adults will delight in reading "The Pixy and the Lazy Housewife" to their children. And the youngsters, no doubt, will be spellbound. Highly recommended.

"The Traveling Ball of String" story by Mary Calhoun and pictures by Janet McCaffery. Mary Calhoun and Janet McCaffery have combined their efforts to turn out this equally charming though totally different book. This one is about mountain folk, and is full of words like "plunder," "diddies," "Whump," and "a-tumbling." The pictures are done in another style, too. They are simpler, drawn with bold clean lines and in each picture the horizon tells us that this is hill country. The Widow Tuckett, liked to "Use it up, wear it out, make it do, do without." But her excessive saving got the better of her when it came to string. She kept every piece she could find, long and short and added it to her hoard. Eventually the ball of string assumed huge proportions and took off on a hilarious roll through the countryside. This one, like the Lazy Housewife and the Pixy, will be enjoyed by all ages.

Benjamin Dilly's Lavender

Lion" by Jolly Roger Bradfield. Roger Bradfield must indeed be jolly to conjure up a yarn like this one. Benjamin Dilly had a wild imagination and the funny part of this book is that his imaginings all came true — to Benjamin. He could imagine an orange elephant with glasses. He went so far as to imagine a family of musical mice which did his piano practicing for him. Burglers tried to loot Benjamin's home, so he imagined a purple lion to frighten them away. The police were baffled and would not believe Benjamin even when they saw the bit of cloth the lion had torn from a burglar's pants. Grades 4-6 can read this, but many pre-schoolers will delight in hearing it read to them.

"The Black Stallion's Ghost" by Walter Farley. Here is Walter Farley at his best. His book is full of beautiful horses: one, a silver gray mare exquisitely trained in the haute école of the Lipizzans; the other, the magnificent black stallion. Mr. Farley spins his story with the love of horses running through it as a dominant theme keeps reappearing in a piece of music. If there are any boys and girls who do not like horses — and that is doubtful — they will love this story as well as Farley's many devoted fans. Grades 4-6.

"Being Nice Is Lots of Fun." by Caroline Horowitz, illustrated by Bernice Myers. Rhymes about Grimy Gus, Selfish Sam and Messy Bessy are nicely balanced by Kindy Katie and Friendly Freddie. All are illustrated with clever

Stalin's Daughter Tells Of 'Offer'

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Joseph Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Alliluyeva, says she received last spring a semiofficial visitor who invited her to return to the Soviet Union.

"I will not tell you his name," she was quoted in an interview in the Evening Times of Trenton. "He advised me never to give up my Soviet citizenship."

Mrs. Alliluyeva said her visitor also advised her not to write any more.

The late dictator's daughter, 43, has written two books about her father since defecting to the United States in 1967 and last month her Soviet citizenship was revoked. She said returning to the Soviet Union now was "unthinkable."

Arctic Cold Hits Nation's Midsection

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arctic cold swept across the nation's midsection today and dropped temperatures below zero from the northern Plains to the Great Lakes region.

Cold-wave warnings were in effect through the night in seven states from Nebraska and Kansas to Indiana.

Temperatures plunged as much as 40 degrees as the new surge of wintry weather rolled across the Midwest. The mercury fell 46 degrees in less than nine hours at St. Louis.

Snow preceded the cold wave, piling up to four inches before daybreak in portions of Michigan. Two-inch coatings ranged southwestward across northern Illinois.

The Weather bureau indicated the cold would spread into the Appalachians and the Northeast by Friday morning.

Unseasonably mild weather prevailed over the Deep South, and fairly mild conditions dominated the Far West.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 9 below zero at Redwood Falls, Minn., to 65 at Brownsville, Tex.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Annie, the Women in the Life of a Man," on CBS Wednesday night shaped up as the freshest, brightest hour of television entertainment since the original "Laugh-In" special.

Anne Bancroft emerged with fresh laurels as comedienne, chanteuse and tongue-in-cheek femme fatale in an hour that combined keen wit, perceptive humor and unfailing good taste.

The theme was woman and Miss Bancroft played a dozen or so different ones. She was a bride having panicky doubts in the midst of the wedding ceremony; an ex-career girl facing happily the fact that "marriage is better;" an Elizabethan lady cavorting with knights in armor; a 1920s flapper; a society lady on a psychiatrist's couch and many more.

The men in various lives obviously were chosen for their special contributions—Robert Merrill singing a passionate love song with a snapper ending; Lee J. Cobb playing a psychiatrist without a line to speak but his face expressing volumes; Dick Shawn as a nervous bridegroom, and Arthur Murray in the most dramatic role in his career.

Among the funny sketches was one serious moment, Dick Smothers, in a World War I doughboy's uniform singing an antiwar song to his mother—Miss Bancroft in a gray wig. It was effective drama.

The program arrives when television seems overgrown with variety shows featuring loud music, humor pegged on shock value and guest stars who seem to do the same thing show after show. This special may start a new and welcome trend and certainly is worth an encore.

NBC and CBS are expected to start jining up sponsors for their 1970-71 programs within days or even hours, and ABC is expected to follow along within a week or 10 days.

At this point it seems that survival is unlikely for CBS' "Get Smart," "Lancer" and "The Red Skelton Show." Jackie Gleason, who has resumed negotiations with the network, may return in some specials instead of a weekly show. There is talk that "The Tim Conway Show," a disappointing midseason replacement, may be converted into an hour-long variety show starring the comedian.

It appears that NBC's "I Dream of Jeannie," "Debbie Reynolds Show," "Daniel Boone" and "Bronson" are soon to leave, and it is likely that "My World and Welcome to It" is likely to be a casualty at the end of the season.

ABC, whose midseason replacements have helped improve its ratings, still has a lot of decisions to make. It is expected that "The Flying Nun," "Here Come the Brides" and "Paris 7000" will be scuttled and possibly "The Englebert Humperdinck Show" and the new Pat Paulsen half hour.

Skelton's hour, after 19 years, is still rated among the top five or ten programs in popularity. CBS, however, is known to be concerned with the composition of its audience as much as its size. The network is eager to build an audience in the 18-49 age bracket, and strengthen its appeal to urban audiences. Skelton, it is felt, did not fit into this programming effort.

Tenenbaum Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate John J. Gilligan announced Wednesday he has appointed Robert Tenenbaum, 28, of Cleveland as his communications director and Robert E. Dayley, 36, of Dayton as his press secretary.

Seek More Liberal Voting Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater urged Congress today to wipe out legal technicalities that prevent millions of citizens from voting in presidential elections.

The Arizona Republican, his party's candidate for President in 1964, said state residence requirements and restrictions on absentee voting "are utterly out of tune with the changing needs of a modern, mobile society."

In testimony prepared for a Senate constitutional rights subcommittee hearing on voting legislation, Goldwater said, "In my opinion every able-bodied citizen of the several states should be entitled to participate in the choice of his President—period."

"A citizen should be able to exercise this right regardless of where he is in the world on election day and regardless of how long he has been a resident of any particular state."

Goldwater offered his proposal as a substitute for a section of a House-passed voting rights bill that provides a person residing in a state on Sept. 1 in a presidential election year could vote if otherwise eligible.

The establishment of a uniform residency requirement is one of the least controversial parts of the bill, an administration measure that would replace the 1965 Voting Rights Act, but Goldwater contended it is inadequate.

In his statement, he didn't touch on the key issue in dispute—whether the 1965 act, applying only to parts of the South, should be extended or supplanted by the nationwide legislation urged by President Nixon.

During testimony Wednesday, civil rights leader Clarence Mitchell appealed for passage of a bill extending the 1965 voting rights law without change for five years.

He said Congress should not let "this valuable legislation get bogged down in a morass of litigation because of technical changes in the present statute."

Mitchell said that he was confident the House would accept a simple extension bill if the Senate passed it.

By a 208-203 vote last December, the House approved the administration's nationwide voting rights bill in place of a measure extending the 1965 act.

The administration bill bans the use of voter literacy tests in all states instead of just the Southern states covered by the 1965 act. It also permits election observers and examiners to be sent anywhere to protect voting rights.

But it repeals a section of the 1965 law requiring Southern states to get advance clearance from the U.S. attorney general for any change in their election laws.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., testifying in support of extending the 1965 act, said this section is the key to success in increasing Negro voter registration in the South.

Rod Steiger Ends Napoleon Film

LONDON (AP) — American actor Rod Steiger, in London to put the finishing touches to his portrayal of Napoleon in the epic film "Waterloo," said he studied books about the battle but finally decided "I didn't know who was telling the truth any more."

Steiger told newsmen Tuesday his Napoleon is "a sick man whose mind refused to let him die."

The actor said he planned to make his home in London. "The tax is awful, but I'm not going to allow money to dictate where I live," he said.

Southerners Cheer School Amendment

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern politicians and civil rights leaders have applauded Senate passage of an amendment sponsored by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.

The measure would make it national policy to enforce school desegregation uniformly throughout the nation.

"This is one time that I agree with Sen. Stennis," said Aaron Henry, Mississippi state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. "Segregation should not be the method of operation anywhere."

Gov. John Bell Williams of Mississippi called Wednesday a "historic day for the South."

"The lamp of liberty shines brighter and hope for the preservation of quality public education has taken a new life," he said in a telegram to Stennis.

"I've been in this fight for 15 years and many times I've almost given up but this is wonderful," said Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox. "I would like to see restoration of freedom of choice but I'll settle for the neighborhood school concept."

Louisiana NAACP President Emmitt Douglas said, "I thank Mr. Stennis for making all America aware that this is not just a Southern problem."

Florida Education Commissioner Floyd Christian called the amendment realistic. "If we are going to have the Southern states required to force desegregation, there is no other choice than to have all the other states required to meet the same standards and the same laws as the South."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Army missile site near Wilmington, due to be phased out soon, might provide some use for the state, Gov. James A. Rhodes said Wednesday.

He said the state is "definitely interested" and he asked several state officials to study the use-feasibility of the site. One possibility was seen in its use as a facility for the Ohio Youth Commission.

Soviets Continue To Nix Space Cooperation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has offered 21 times in the last 11 years to cooperate in specific space ventures with the Soviet Union, a space agency source says, and each effort has been ignored, stalled or rejected outright.

The overtures ranged in importance from joint exploration of the moon and exchanging information on experiments to courtesy invitations to U. S. space launches, the spokesman said.

On April 4, 1967, when space agency Administrator James E. Webb sent condolences on the death of cosmonaut Vladimir M. Komarov and expressed the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's wish to cooperate with the Soviet Union, the Russians simply didn't reply.

As far back as Dec. 7, 1959—when the first Soviet manned flight was still 17 months in the future—administrator T. Keith Glennan offered U. S. assistance in tracking Soviet manned flights. The U.S.S.R. response was, in effect, "don't call us, we'll call you." They didn't.

Astronaut Frank Borman, who got a hero's reception in Moscow after his Apollo 8 flight around the moon, alluded to United States gestures Tuesday in a speech to school children at Avon, N. Y.

Speaking of cooperation between the two countries in space, Borman said "in essence it will occur when the Soviet Union is willing to have it occur... this could be a catalytic area which would improve the relationship not only of the two countries, but of all the countries on earth."

President Nixon, in his aeronautics and space report to Congress last month, said "efforts to develop substantive and mutually cooperative programs with the U. S. S. R. are continuing but have met with limited success."

The United States does have long-standing agreements on four projects with the Soviets.

One involved meteorological satellites and exchanging data. The Russians have used a "cold line" daily to provide conventional weather data but there has been no information from their weather satellites.

Another agreement called for an exchange of data from satellites to measure the earth's magnetic field. The agreement was only partly carried out.

A communications experiment to bounce signals off Echo 2, a big balloon—and use the Soviet ground station at Semienki—was completed. And the Russians also partly filled the fourth project, exchanging papers on space biology and medicine.

Last October, when Cosmonauts Georgi T. Bergovoy and Konstantin Feoktistov reciprocated Borman's Russian visit, they turned down an invitation to tour Cape Kennedy. The reason was obvious: Such visits would have called for return invitations to Americans to the Soviet Launch site at Baikonur in Central Asia.

There were a number of overtures made by Frederick Seitz of the U.S. National Academy of Sciences to President M. V.

Keldysh of the Soviet Academy, none of them successful.

In October 1967, when the U.S. outer space treaty came into force, the United States referred to offers of cooperation and said: "We again renew these offers today." There was no response.

In a recent interview, the current NASA administrator—Dr. Thomas O. Paine—was asked about Russia's cold responses.

"I think the thing you have to bear in mind," Paine said, "is that the Soviet Union at the start of the space age enjoyed some very major successes and, in fact, was able to outstrip United States efforts for a number of years.

"During this period it was a source of great pride to the Soviet leadership that this was the case and they were able to talk in rather fundamental theoretical grounds about the superiority of the socialist system... and that the Soviet triumphs over the United States were wonderful proof of the superiority and indeed the future victory of the Soviet system.

"Therefore, the fact that we've been able to put our shoulders to the wheel and move the program ahead so rapidly has been a source of some dismay to them. And I think they've been a little more reluctant to cooperate with us for this reason than I would like to see."

Academy Closes After 101 Years

CINCINNATI (AP) — After 101 years, the Academy of the Sacred Heart in the exclusive Clifton section will close its doors to students in June, 1970, because of financial problems.

Mother Helen Sheahan, order of the Sacred Heart, said the decision was made by the provincial chapter after consideration of the problems of finances and personnel.

The school was founded in 1869 by the French Order of Sacred Heart. French customs and principles of education have remained with the school since its inception.

The school taught high school girls and elementary children.

Academy Closes After 101 Years

CINCINNATI (AP) — After 101 years, the Academy of the Sacred Heart in the exclusive Clifton section will close its doors to students in June, 1970, because of financial problems.

Mother Helen Sheahan, order of the Sacred Heart, said, the decision was made by the provincial chapter after consideration of the problems of finances and personnel.

The school was founded in 1869 by the French Order of Sacre Coeur. French customs and principles of education have remained with the school since its inception.

The school taught high school girls and elementary children. Bumblebees are larger than most other bees. Their elongated mouth-parts enable them to pollinate red clover which no other bees can do.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Eeren
No 'Hippie' Child Is Better Off Dead

DEAR ABBY: This is in reply to the woman who said that the mother whose son was lying dead in Viet Nam was better off than she, whose 19-year-old son was sick, dirty, living hand to mouth and using drugs.

I run a drug treatment program called RAP (Recognize All Potential) which deals primarily with adolescent and college-age drug users. Many of them are sick and dirty, living hand to mouth.

When I read them the mother's letter above, some of them said, "I'll bet my mother wrote that. She really wishes I were dead."

Abby, please tell that mother to examine her own feelings towards her son. Why has she given up hope for him?

Perhaps if some of these parents would worry less about what to tell their friends and more about what to tell their children, I could work less than 20 hours a day attempting to help kids whose parents wish they were dead.

PATRICIA PACKARD
Pittsburgh, Pa.

DEAR PATRICIA: It's a great job you and your colleagues are doing. Drug addiction among the young is, in my opinion, one of our nation's most serious problems. If only we had an educational program effective enough to keep our kids away from the stuff, we wouldn't have to work so hard to get them off the stuff.

DEAR ABBY: I guess my problem is a very common one as my husband says all men do the same thing.

Let me explain. A few months ago my husband and I were getting ready for bed, and he reached over to lay his wallet on the dresser and he missed. His wallet fell on the floor and everything in it spilled out. Plain as could be were some pictures of naked men and women together. (I do mean together.)

I was shocked and sick, but pretended I didn't see them. I tried to put it out of my mind. Now this morning when I went into his pants pocket to get a dollar for my daughter to take to school, I found more pictures just like the first. I wasn't spying or prying. I have always gone into my husband's pants pockets with his knowledge and permission.

This time I mentioned it to my husband, and he said all men carry pictures like that around. Do they? What does this mean? Could a man love and respect his wife and carry stuff like that? He never used to act this way. Please answer soon.

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: Only the emotionally immature would look twice at such pictures. If your husband "never used to act this way," perhaps he is undergoing some personality change due to a physical illness. Ask your doctor. It's "normal" for curious little boys, but not for grown men.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old woman, unmarried. I live with my father. Dad is 62 and has been divorced from my mother for several years.

What bothers me is that my father refuses to go with women anywhere near his own age. He is very good looking and keeps himself in excellent physical condition by jogging, golfing, and dieting, and he looks more like 50 than 62.

He goes with three different women. The youngest is 32 and the oldest is 36. Most of Dad's men friends are about his age and they all are married with grandchildren. None of his friends will invite him to mixed parties because they are afraid Dad will show up with some young thing half his age. This bothers me, and it bothers Dad's friends, but it doesn't bother Dad. He says he doesn't intend to get married again and prefers young girls to that of women his own age, and if his friends don't like it, that's their problem. What do you think?

DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: I think a 62-year-old man, who looks like 50, should be able to bring a woman of 32 to a party without being criticized. Furthermore I think his friends are probably more jealous than bothered. And you, young lady, shouldn't be bothered. Daddy is a big boy now.

Sanity Hearing Slated For Man

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — A sanity hearing for Orville W. Perkey, 39, charged more than six years ago with first-degree murder and two counts of shooting with intent to wound, will be held here March 4.

Perkey is charged with the slaying of Richard Merrin, 46, an advertising salesman for the Mount Vernon News, and the wounding of two other News employees in the newspaper offices Oct. 30, 1963.

Doctors at Lima State Hospital where Perkey has been confined for treatment have determined he has been "restored to reason" and is able to counsel in his own defense.

President's Consumer Aide Can't Get Sofa Repaired

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's consumer advocate is getting a first-hand taste of the citizen frustrations which pour into her office daily.

Virginia Knauer, a homemaker, mother and grandmother when she's not fielding the complaints of consumers, can't seem to get her sofa fixed.

"The buyer has the right to register his dissatisfaction and have his complaint heard and weighed when his interests are badly served," said President Nixon in his "Buyer's Bill of Rights" last October.

But Mrs. Knauer says she's had a little trouble getting satisfaction since a new sofa was delivered to her home last August. "Can you imagine sending out a sofa with a broken leg?" she asks. "And badly ... badly stitched together. I could have done a better job."

Mrs. Knauer is pleased with that response she gets when she approaches manufacturers about the 2,000 to 3,000 letters and complaints she gets in her office every month.

She managed to convince a floor tile firm it should replace a cracked floor for one woman. For one man she managed to get his refrigerator warranty extended because the appliance had been in repair shops for half the original three-year warranty.

But what's happened with the sofa replacement she was promised?

"Now they're not even sure that they ordered the one they promised to deliver sometime between August and the first of October. I think the first of November at the latest they would have had the new sofa," she says.

"So at this point I've gotten a little defeatist about it," she says. She jokingly suggests calling a news conference, but she doesn't mention the name of the large Washington department store involved.

"And this isn't schlock furniture. This was good furniture. Which shows that maybe I should have stuck to antiques."

"I think this is unconscionable. I'm so busy solving other people's problems, I don't have time to take care of my own."

ABA To Change Assessment Of Nominees

ATLANTA (AP) — The American Bar Association may withhold its assessment of future Supreme Court nominations until the Senate has completed its hearings.

This policy change will be recommended to the ABA's committee on the federal judiciary by ABA President Bernard G. Segal.

Segal told newsmen Wednesday the reason is that President Nixon does not submit prospective nominations to the ABA before making his selections public.

As a result, the Philadelphia lawyer said, the ABA is unable to conduct a thorough investigation before issuing a judgment of the nominee at the opening of Senate Judiciary Committee hearings.

Pasadena School Plan Under Study

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A school integration plan for Pasadena which a school district attorney says is the most far reaching of any city in the nation is in the hands of a federal judge awaiting his public appraisal at a March 4 hearing.

The government-ordered plan was submitted Wednesday to U.S. Dist. Court Judge Manuel L. Real in response to his Jan. 20 ruling that Pasadena public schools must be balanced racially by next September.

The 48-page document envisions mandatory busing of students and pupils, establishment of a single high school and increased recruiting of teachers from minority groups.

Attorney John A. Miller, representing the school district, termed the projected changes the most far reaching "of any city in the country."

Miller said he expected no major objections from the U.S. Justice Department, plaintiff in the government's first school discrimination suit to come to trial on the West Coast.

Dad's friends, but it doesn't bother Dad. He says he doesn't intend to get married again and prefers young girls to that of women his own age, and if his friends don't like it, that's their problem. What do you think?

DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: I think a 62-year-old man, who looks like 50, should be able to bring a woman of 32 to a party without being criticized. Furthermore I think his friends are probably more jealous than bothered. And you, young lady, shouldn't be bothered. Daddy is a big boy now.

President's Consumer Aide Can't Get Sofa Repaired

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's consumer advocate is getting a first-hand taste of the citizen frustrations which pour into her office daily.

Virginia Knauer, a homemaker, mother and grandmother when she's not fielding the complaints of consumers, can't seem to get her sofa fixed.

"The buyer has the right to register his dissatisfaction and have his complaint heard and weighed when his interests are badly served," said President Nixon in his "Buyer's Bill of Rights" last October.

But Mrs. Knauer says she's had a little trouble getting satisfaction since a new sofa was delivered to her home last August. "Can you imagine sending out a sofa with a broken leg?" she asks. "And badly ... badly stitched together. I could have done a better job."

Mrs. Knauer is pleased with that response she gets when she approaches manufacturers about the 2,000 to 3,000 letters and complaints she gets in her office every month.

She managed to convince a floor tile firm it should replace a cracked floor for one woman. For one man she managed to get his refrigerator warranty extended because the appliance had been in repair shops for half the original three-year warranty.

But what's happened with the sofa replacement she was promised? "Now they're not even sure that they ordered the one they promised to deliver sometime between August and the first of October. I think the first of November at the latest they would have had the new sofa," she says.

"So at this point I've gotten a little defeatist about it," she says. She jokingly suggests calling a news conference, but she doesn't mention the name of the large Washington department store involved. "And this isn't schlock furniture. This was good furniture. Which shows that maybe I should have stuck to antiques. I think this is unconscionable. I'm so busy solving other people's problems, I don't have time to take care of my own."

Pasadena School Plan Under Study

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A school integration plan for Pasadena which a school district attorney says is the most far reaching of any city in the nation is in the hands of a federal judge awaiting his public appraisal at a March 4 hearing.

The government-ordered plan was submitted Wednesday to U.S. Dist. Court Judge Manuel L. Real in response to his Jan. 20 ruling that Pasadena public schools must be balanced racially by next September.

The 48-page document envisions mandatory busing of students and pupils, establishment of a single high school and increased recruiting of teachers from minority groups.

Attorney John A. Miller, representing the school district, termed the projected changes the most far reaching "of any city in the country."

Miller said he expected no major objections from the U.S. Justice Department, plaintiff in the government's first school discrimination suit to come to trial on the West Coast.

ATLANTA (AP) — The American Bar Association may withhold its assessment of future Supreme Court nominations until the Senate has completed its hearings.

This policy change will be recommended to the ABA's committee on the federal judiciary by ABA President Bernard G. Segal.

Segal told newsmen Wednesday the reason is that President Nixon does not submit prospective nominations to the ABA before making his selections public.

As a result, the Philadelphia lawyer said, the ABA is unable to conduct a thorough investigation before issuing a judgment of the nominee at the opening of Senate Judiciary Committee hearings.

Ohio U Defeats Marshall, 100-86

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio University switched strategy in the second half and came from behind to whip Marshall 100-86 Wednesday night, avenging a loss to the Thundering Herd a week earlier.

"You can't expect to beat the champions twice," said a dejected Stewart Way, the Marshall mentor. "Ohio wasn't going to be denied tonight."

After an ineffective first half and trailing 50-44 at halftime, Bobcat Coach Jim Snyder decided to go to a zone defense. His team caught fire, scoring 12 straight points to take the lead.

"We were getting killed otherwise. We had to try something so we went to our 2 - 3 zone," Snyder said.

"Our zone gave us the boards — they were only getting one shot."

The heated battle broke out into a scuffle midway through the second half which resulted in ejection of OU's Greg McDivitt and Dave Smith of Marshall.

The Thundering Herd's Russell Lee, described by Snyder

as "fantastic," led all scorers with 36 points. Greg Love and John Canine paced the Bobcats with 20 apiece.

The win lifted the Bobcats, who have clinched at least a share of the Mid-American Conference title, to a 17-5 overall record. Marshall now is 7-13.

In the only MAC encounter of the night, Miami thumped Western Michigan 83-61 to move a shade closer to second - place Bowling Green in the standings.

Paced by senior Walt Williams with a career high 30 points, the Redskins shot 48.5 per cent from the floor in breezing to the victory. The win boosted Miami to 6-3 in the league and 13-7 for the season. The Broncos now are 2 - 6 in the MAC and 6-14 overall.

Dayton's Flyers shot an unbelievable 72 per cent from the floor in downing Kent State, 88-

78. Led by Ken May with 28 points, the Flyers made 14 of their first 15 shots in the opening period and seven of their first eight in the second half.

Rodger Evans and Mike Foote each had 17 points for the Golden Flashers.

Defiance captured the Mid-Ohio Conference title by beating Bluffton 93-86. Defiance (8 - 1) led by 17 points at one stage, but Bluffton closed to within five late in the game before Dave Baker hit two foul shots to ice the win. Defiance's Chuck Nafziger took scoring honors with 26 points. Denny Lane had 21 for the losers.

In another MOC game, Malone, led by John Schrader with 34 points, trimmed second-place Wilmington, 96 - 91. Stan Kiehl paced Wilmington with 27 points.

Other action saw Urbana clobber Walsh 121 - 91, while Pittsburgh defeated Baldwin - Wallace 73-64. Youngstown downed St. Vincent's, 87-80 and Marietta coasted by Carnegie-Mellon 90-72.

Lee Trevino Says He Has Edge In Golf

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Lee Trevino, the happy guy gunning for his second consecutive victory, said he had an edge on the rest of the field today as he set out in the first round of the $100,000 San Antonio Open Golf tournament.

"The gallery," he said, pointing to the milling mob he has dubbed "Lee's Fleas" that follows his every move, laughing at his every utterance—whether they can hear it or not.

"They've got to help you," said Trevino, a Texas born Mexican-American who now lives in El Paso.

"Man, I hit one into the rough and those Mexicans are kicking it right back in the fairway. Just like that," he said, pointing to an imaginary ball in the air.

"I hit it in there and it comes out like it had hit a tree," he laughed.

"No, seriously, the gallery does help me," he said. "I get a big following of Mexicans here, just like in Tucson. I like to have people around me. They're all pulling for me."

"Somehow, when you've got all those people pulling for you, you play harder. You play better. They're all with you and you get charged up and want to show them something."

Trevino showed them something last week at Tucson. He made up two strokes on Bob Murphy on the last hole, tied big Bob for the top spot, then beat him with a birdie on the first hole of a playoff.

And he's got another little edge, too. He has eased up just a little on his fantastically demanding schedule.

"I'd been playing too much," he said. "Until I went to Tucson I'd play everyday in the year. I think that's why I was having trouble on those last rounds. I was tired."

Circleville And Teays Valley Play Friday At Columbus

It's tournament time for Circleville and Teays Valley and they both see their first action Friday night in the Class AA Sectional at the Columbus Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Teays Valley will take to the hardwood at 6:30 p.m. against the Columbus Central "Pirates" and Circleville will follow at 8 p.m. meeting the "Big Green" of Pleasant View.

It will be the second meeting of the year for the Vikings and the Pirates with the Teays Valley squad winning a 61-61 decision in January. It was a hard earned victory and the Vikings had to make a big comeback effort to gain the victory on their own court.

Central's record for the year is on the losing side of the ledger but they have played a tough schedule in the Columbus City League. The Pirates are a team that can come up with a hot hand at anytime and, when right, can give you all the action you can handle.

THE Pirates will have a height advantage over the Vikings and will display a run and shoot offense that can be tough to contain. They are a good jumping club and Teays Valley will have to hustle to stay with them on the boards.

Dale Lambert will be the eager the Pirates will have to stop if they are going to gain a victory and this is something very few teams have been able to do — contain Lambert.

Viking Coach Bob Hoover will put a squad on the floor that is well balanced and shows good team effort. Lambert is the team leader but the ball club is solid with Wayne Brown, Ed Combs, Larry Dixon, Ed McCord and Bob Tucker providing plenty of strength to the offense and defense. They may not be as big as Central but have shown good work on the boards this year.

Circleville's Tigers will have their hands full with the Big Green of Pleasant View a member of the tough Ohio Capitol Conference. Pleasant View is on the minus side of a winning season but have played some strong competition this season.

The Big Green is paced by senior forward Kevin "Red" Huffman who is the second leading scorer in the conference. Tiger Coach John Lawhorn says, "Huffman can do it all. He is a good shooter, a great rebounder and doesn't make any mistakes."

Pleasant View will vary their defenses and will use a man to man, press and varied zones as the occasion demands.

ON offense the Big Green will move around a high post and look for Huffman. They are a good shooting ball team and will drive.

Circleville coming off a big win over Waverly will be ready for the Big Green. The victory over Waverly was a big one for the Tigers showing they have the guns to compete with anyone. Another effort like they displayed last Saturday could bring a big win into the Tiger den.

Montreal Canadiens Lose To Toronto

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Suddenly, the Montreal Canadiens are almost as interested in what's going on behind them as they are in what's going on ahead of them.

The Canadiens, for years symbols of supremacy in the National Hockey League, lost their third straight game Wednesday night, bowing to Toronto 5-3. That dropped them six points out of first place in the East Division and left them only four points in front of fourth place Detroit.

fold the Tigers will go at full strength and if Brown is able to pound the boards at full speed the Big Green will be in for plenty of trouble. Ty Ankrom and Charlie Jackson can hit the boards and it may take a big effort by all three to counter the good rebounding of the Big Green.

Brown, Ankrom, Jackson, Randy Halley and Tom Bowers will be the starters for the Tigers and Mark Lutz will provide added strength as the sixth man.

The Red and Black eagles can score and if they do a good defensive job it could be a big win for them.

With Halley and Bowers working from the outside, Jackson and Ankrom driving from the corners, and Brown operating under the boards the Tigers can give a good account of themselves.

A victory for Teays Valley will send them against the winner of the Washington C. H. - Columbus East fray at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday. A Circleville win will pit them against the winner of the Columbus South — Reemelin game at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Nets Defeat Pittsburgh

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Billy Melchioni could have stayed at home for the job he did in regulation time Wednesday but didn't mention overtime to the Pittsburgh Pipers.

Melchioni only scored three points Wednesday night after 48 minutes of play for the New York Nets in their American Basketball Association contest with Pittsburgh which ended in a 102-102 tie.

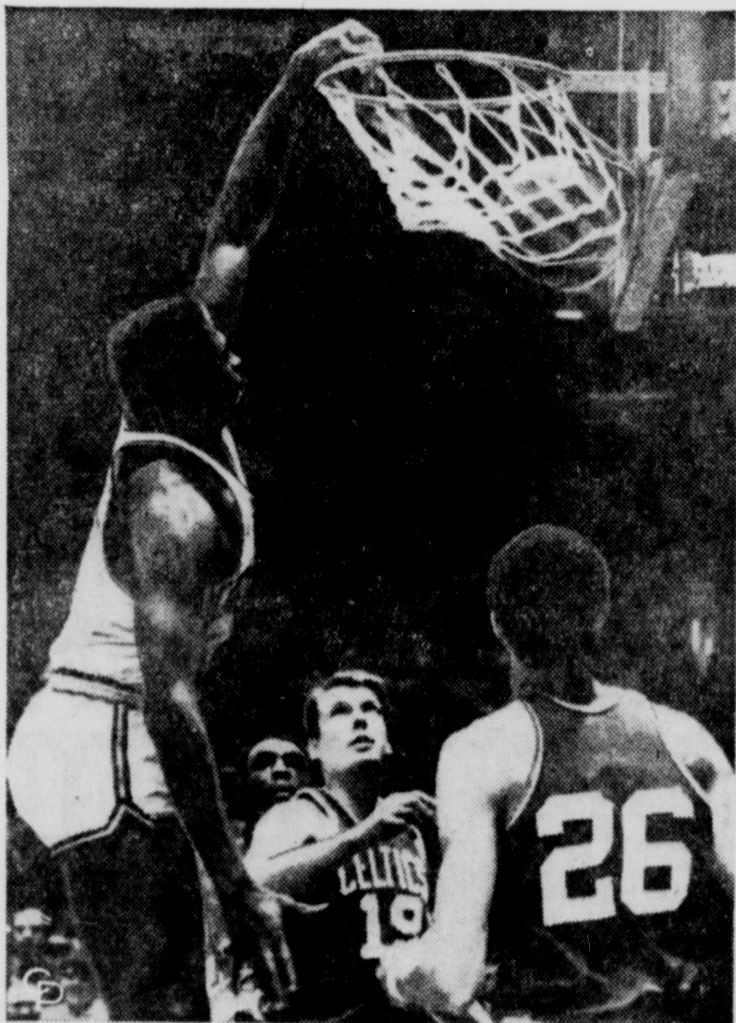

But the former Villanova backcourt star got the job done in the five-minute overtime period, overwhelming the Pipers with 10 points—the entire Pittsburgh team scored eight—and giving the Nets their seventh victory in eight games, a 116-110 triumph.

Levern Tart topped New York scorers with 33 points while the Pipers' Warren Davis had 21 and George Thompson 19. Thompson's three-point goal with four seconds remaining tied the game in regulation time.

In the only other ABA contest Denver slipped into first place in the West with a 118-107 victory over Los Angeles.

Circleville And Teays Valley Play Friday At Columbus

It's tournament time for Circleville and Teays Valley and they both see their first action Friday night in the Class AA Sectional at the Columbus Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Teays Valley will take to the hardwood at 6:30 p.m. against the Columbus Central "Pirates" and Circleville will follow at 8 p.m. meeting the "Big Green" of Pleasant View.

It will be the second meeting of the year for the Vikings and the Pirates with the Teays Valley squad winning a 61-61 decision in January. It was a hard earned victory and the Vikings had to make a big comeback effort to gain the victory on their own court.

Central's record for the year is on the losing side of the ledger but they have played a tough schedule in the Columbus City League. The Pirates are a team that can come up with a hot hand at anytime and, when right, can give you all the action you can handle.

THE Pirates will have a height advantage over the Vikings and will display a run and shoot offense that can be tough to contain. They are a good jumping club and Teays Valley will have to hustle to stay with them on the boards.

Dale Lambert will be the eager the Pirates will have to stop if they are going to gain a victory and this is something very few teams have been able to do — contain Lambert.

Viking Coach Bob Hoover will put a squad on the floor that is well balanced and shows good team effort. Lambert is the team leader but the ball club is solid with Wayne Brown, Ed Combs, Larry Dixon, Ed McCord and Bob Tucker providing plenty of strength to the offense and defense. They may not be as big as Central but have shown good work on the boards this year.

Circleville's Tigers will have their hands full with the Big Green of Pleasant View a member of the tough Ohio Capitol Conference. Pleasant View is on the minus side of a winning season but have played some strong competition this season.

The Big Green is paced by senior forward Kevin "Red" Huffman who is the second leading scorer in the conference. Tiger Coach John Lawhorn says, "Huffman can do it all. He is a good shooter, a great rebounder and doesn't make any mistakes."

Pleasant View will vary their defenses and will use a man to man, press and varied zones as the occasion demands.

ON offense the Big Green will move around a high post and

Nets Defeat Pittsburgh

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Billy Melchioni could have stayed at home for the job he did in regulation time Wednesday but didn't mention overtime to the Pittsburgh Pipers.

Melchioni only scored three points Wednesday night after 48 minutes of play for the New York Nets in their American Basketball Association contest with Pittsburgh which ended in a 102-102 tie.

But the former Villanova backcourt star got the job done in the five-minute overtime period, overwhelming the Pipers with 10 points—the entire Pittsburgh team scored eight—and giving the Nets their seventh victory in eight games, a 116-110 triumph.

Levern Tart topped New York scorers with 33 points while the Pipers' Warren Davis had 21 and George Thompson 19. Thompson's three-point goal with four seconds remaining tied the game in regulation time.

In the only other ABA contest Denver slipped into first place in the West with a 118-107 victory over Los Angeles.

Atlanta Tops Cincy Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jumpin' Joe Caldwell, who earned his nickname by leaping over a convertible at the Arizona State University campus, has reached a new high on the basketball court.

The 6-foot-5, fifth year pro poured in a career high of 41 points in leading Atlanta to a 130-125 National Basketball Association overtime victory over the Cincinnati Royals Wednesday night.

Thirteen of Caldwell's points came in overtime as the Hawks won their fourth game in the last five starts and boosted their Western Division lead to 2 1/2 games over second-place Los Angeles.

Baltimore downed Los Angeles 117-103, Boston edged Phoenix 116-113, Milwaukee tripped San Francisco 109-102 and San Diego downed Seattle 122-119 in other NBA games.

Lou Hudson contributed 38 points for Atlanta, which had jumped to a 14-point lead midway through the first half before the Royals, led by Norm Van Lier and Tom Van Arsdale, bounced back and made a game of it all the way. Regulation play ended with the score tied at 120.

Van Lier scored 28 points and Van Arsdale 27.

McClain Meets With Federal Grand Jury

DETROIT (AP) — Denny McLain, the 25-year-old Detroit Tiger pitcher ace, voluntarily met behind closed doors Wednesday with a federal grand jury that is probing interstate gambling.

McLain emerged from seclusion for the first time since Friday when Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said in New York that unspecified "off the field" activities by McLain in 1967 were being studied.

Federal attorneys declined to discuss what McLain said during his 45-minute appearance before the grand jury.

U.S. Atty. James Brickley said that McLain was "very cooperative in furnishing information" to the grand jury and to James Ritchie, who heads a U.S. justice Department task force investigating organized crime.

Brickley said that McLain had not been subpoenaed for the appearance, his first before the grand jury. Brickley said the investigation was an independent one that Ritchie "has been pursuing for some time."

Ritchie said federal attorneys are also "cooperating fully with the baseball commissioner, and I consult with his office on a daily basis to discuss matters of mutual interest."

McLain again disappeared, but he may be en route to Lakeland, Fla., where the Tigers open spring training Friday. His wife, Sharyn, told reporters earlier Wednesday that her husband "has done nothing to hurt baseball."

Mrs. McLain, daughter of former Cleveland Indian shortstop Lou Boudreau, added "We are behind Denny 100 per cent."

She was interviewed as she boarded an airplane by herself in Detroit Wednesday afternoon for a flight to Tampa, Fla., en route to Lakeland.

Also Wednesday, an eviction suit against McLain in a Southfield, Mich., district court was postponed until Friday.

McLain's landlord alleged the ballplayer is $2,450 behind in rent for the suburban Detroit home. Orland Ellis, an attorney representing McLain, asked for the postponement, saying an out-of-court settlement was being attempted.

Shula Quits Colts For Dolphin Post

MIAMI (AP)—It was clearly money that convinced Don Shula to shuck aside the prominent Baltimore Colts to coach a Miami team that has been nothing but a loser.

"Immediate and substantial interest in the Dolphins cause me to leave the Colts," said the 40-year-old Shula. "Being active in ownership while still coaching is something I've always wanted."

Shula joins two elder statesmen of pro football in the owner-coach class—Vince Lombardi of the Washington Redskins and Paul Brown of the Cincinnati Bengals.

When Walsh was just a toddler in New York City, he got his first basketball... from Frank McGuire. He later started for McGuire at North Carolina and currently is McGuire's chief assistant at South Carolina.

The boss was out with the flu Wednesday night so Walsh took over and guided the fourth-ranked Gamecocks to a 71-69 Atlantic Coast Conference victory over 12th-ranked North Carolina State.

"Donnie Walsh is the finest young basketball coach in the United States," McGuire says in South Carolina's press brochure. "Donnie understands my way of thinking about the game and I have complete confidence in his judgment and abilities."

Sixth-ranked Jacksonville got revenge for its only setback in a 20-1 campaign by beating eighth-ranked Florida State 85-81 while Duke, loser of a bitter overtime struggle to Davidson last season, paid back the ninth-ranked Wildcats 79-66... in overtime, naturally.

Three other members of The Associated Press' Top Twenty also were in action, St. Bonaventure, No. 3, coasted past St. Francis, N.Y., 87-57; No. 13 North Carolina held off arch-rival Maryland 90-83 and Louisville, ranked 19th, trimmed Belmont 95-75.

John Roche, who finished with 38 points, paced South Carolina to a 52-38 lead with 12½ minutes left. Vann Williford and Paul Coder helped North Carolina State cut it to five with 3½ minutes to play but the Gamecocks opened it to eight before State scored the last six points.

Chip Dublin, one of two players filling in for Jacksonville's injured 6-foot-10 Rod McIntyre, combined with 7-2 Artis Gilmore and 7-0 Pembroke Burrows to choke off two Florida State rallies and send the Seminoles to their third defeat in 23 starts.

Gilmore, one of five Dolphins in double figures, scored 19 points, pulled down 21 rebounds and blocked eight shots. The winners were carried off the court on the shoulders of the home town fans and some players held up one finger, signifying "We're No. 1."

They might get an argument

Pete Rose May Sign Pact Calling For $100,000

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pete Rose, slugging outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds, may sign his 1970 baseball contract today and become the first $100,000-a-year player for the Reds.

All that is needed, says the NL batting champion for the last two years, is a call from Bob Howsam, general manager of the Reds.

Rose, who is supposed to have been paid $85,000 last season, reportedly has sought $110,000 but has indicated he would settle for the 100 grand.

There has been no word from Howsam as the Reds opened their spring training camp today at Tampa.

Activities picked up at the training camps Wednesday with the world champion New York Mets, Atlanta Braves, Baltimore Orioles, Washington Senators, San Diego Padres and New York Yankees each putting in several hours of limbering up drills.

Before their workout at St. Petersburg the Mets signed catcher J.C. Martin and pitcher Danny Frisella. Manager Gil Hodges directed the workout.

The Braves drilled at West Palm Beach after pitcher Cecil Upshaw reported with his signed contract. The Braves also signed hurlers Bob Priddy, Mike McCammon and Ron Schuler.

Two unsigned pitchers, Dave McNally and Jim Palmer, were missing as the Orioles opened camp at Miami. Catcher Andy Etchebarren also was absent.

At Pompano Beach, Manager Ted Williams cautioned rookie pitcher Jeff Vollweiler about they are. We played the No. 6 team in the country on their floor and lost by only four points."

Brad Evans, whose field goal sent the game into overtime, and Don Blackman helped Duke to a seven-point lead in the extra session and the Blue Devils throwing too hard. The rookie replied he wasn't even at half speed.

Pat Dobson pitched 15 minutes of batting practice for the Padres at Yuma, Ariz., and Manager Preston Gomez said he couldn't think of an NL pitcher with a better curve.

The Yankees signed outfielder Roy White before opening camp at Fort Lauderdale.

Pitcher Jose Santiago of the Boston Red Sox said he cannot throw a slider any more and will have to get along without it. He underwent elbow surgery last summer. Santiago is working out early at Winter Haven where the full corps of Red Sox battery players report Friday.

staved off a Davidson rally. The losers blew a three-point lead in the final three minutes of the second half.

St. Bonaventure's 6-11 Bob Lanier scored 11 points in the first half as the Bonnies took a 41-24 lead over St. Francis but managed only five thereafter, his low for the season. The winners emptied their bench in the second half en route to their 18th victory in 19 games.

Seven field goals in the final 19 minutes by sophomore Dennis Wuyek and a key steal by Charlie Scott and Eddie Fogler that led to the tie-breaking basket sparked North Carolina over Maryland.

Mike Grosso's 27 points and 16 rebounds paced Louisville by Bellarmine in a warmup for Saturday's important Missouri Valley clash with Cincinnati.

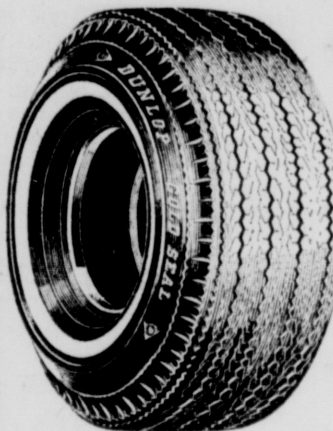

Pete Maravich scored 37 points and Bill Newton 25 as Louisiana State rallied in the second half to edge Georgia 88-86 and stay alive in the South-eastern Conference race.

Villanova topped Duquesne 94-83 in a battle of likely tourney teams. Two other postseason possibilities won their games — Ohio U. over Marshall 100-86 and St. John's over St. Joseph's 47-46.

We interrupt this paper for a brief re-announcement.

We're now building enough Monte Carlos so you can buy one.

$3,123* luxury.

You've undoubtedly been invited to examine and drive personal luxury cars before. But we'll bet this is the first time you've been invited to see and drive one priced at $3,123*.

At that price, Monte Carlo is only slightly higher than many models of our Chevelle, America's most popular mid-size car.

Yet Monte Carlo's a car of thickly padded seats that use the flat "S" springs found in fine furniture. Rich cloth or custom-knit nylon fabrics. An instrument panel with the look of Carpathian buried elm. Plush deep-twist carpeting. And extreme quiet, thanks to an unusual amount of sound-absorbing insulation.

Monte Carlo is every bit the luxury car in other respects, too. For instance, you get a 350-cubic-inch V8, along with power disc brakes operating behind full wheel covers—all standard.

And if you think this car and its price make impressive reading, just wait until you try out the real thing at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

We interrupt this paper for a brief re-announcement.

Monte Carlo Coupé

We're now building enough Monte Carlos so you can buy one.

$3,123* luxury.

You've undoubtedly been invited to examine and drive personal luxury cars before. But we'll bet this is the first time you've been invited to see and drive one priced at $3,123*.

At that price, Monte Carlo is only slightly higher than many models of our Chevelle, America's most popular mid-size car.

Yet Monte Carlo's a car of thickly padded seats that use the flat "S" springs found in fine furniture. Rich cloth or custom-knit nylon fabrics. An instrument panel with the look of Carpathian burl elm. Plush deep-twist carpeting. And extreme quiet, thanks to an unusual amount of sound-absorbing insulation.

Monte Carlo is every bit the luxury car in other respects, too. For instance, you get a 350-cubic-inch V8, along with power disc brakes operating behind full wheel covers—all standard.

And if you think this car and its price make impressive reading, just wait until you try out the real thing at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Monte Carlo, including Federal excise tax and suggested dealer new-car preparation charge. Destination charges, state and local taxes and optional equipment additional.

The Players are doing great things to our grand old lady, Memorial Hall. It is the perfect home for our Roundtowners, complete with stage and all of the things they need. They have scrubbed and painted and started her on the road back to becoming a very fine addition to the community.

It was once THE gathering place. High school proms were held there, as were the Mistletoe Dances, cooking schools, recitals, political rallies and many, many other things.

Built in the 1890's, Memorial Hall was representative of the architecture of the day. In the Victorian era, architectural spasms occurred across the land and great brick and stone buildings were built in what was then called the eclectic architecture.

Delirium prevailed and wild combinations were born with highly ornate towers, columns, balconies, cornices, pilasters and pediments. They were called Queen Anne, or Gothic, early or late Victorian, German pseudo-Gothic or what have you — but they were all individual. Memorial Hall is a shining example of this period.

This theater can be a common meeting ground for many phases of the arts and can be quite a cultural addition and drawing card for the community if we will back the Players and help them bring Memorial Hall back to its fullest potential.
